Architects Against CD At City Hall

Design Group Says Little Saved In 'Fortress' Plan

By BRYCE W. ANDERSON

The committee of architects designing San Rafael's new city hall will recommend tomorrow that it not be redesigned to include a civil defense center.

City Mgr. Dan E. Andersen announced today the council will hold a special meeting at noon tomorrow at Peacock Gap Country Club to receive the architects' report.

In January, the city initiated study of converting the public safety portion of the proposed city hall to a civil defense and disaster headquarters to meet specifications of the Office of Civil Defense. Early in February, an application was filed for $14,241.20 in federal planning funds and $199,740 in federal construction funds. Approval of the planning funds was received last week, with the construction funds to follow.

However, the city would save little by getting the federal funds, would delay its new city hall and handicap regular city operations by the necessary design changes, the spokesman for the architects declared today.

Carl F. Gromme, who heads the committee of seven architects designing the new city hall, said the conversion of a portion of it to a disaster center would:

1. Result in at least six months delay in processing of all specifications through the Office of Civil Defense, in addition to loss of some three months in preliminary design work which was already done.
2. Make design of the building very complicated.
3. Make the building so mas-

All Candidates Back Shelter Cove Purchase

All nine candidates for Sausalito City Council approve the city's purchase of Shelter Cove underwater lands.

Proposition B on the April 14 municipal ballot will be: Shall resolution No. 1571 of the Sausalito City Council, declaring the city's purpose, policy and program to purchase out of annual revenues the Shelter Cove waterfront lots for quatic park, playground, open space and public ground purposes be adopted?

Survey of the candidates was made by the Foundation, a nonprofit organization formed in 1959 to preserve the natural beauty of Sausalito, which contributed $21,000 toward the Shelter Cove underwater lots.

Seven candidates expressed their views on the measure by letter, according to Alice Williams, Foundation president. Candidates Serge Trubach and Mrs. Marsha Owen (Sally Stanford) advised the foundation by telephone they favor the measure.

Controversy entered the case when a petition was filed by Warren V. Glass Jr., Sausalito insurance agent, demanding that citizens be afforded an opportunity to approve or disapprove the action of the city council. A court decision af-

Plan Center Is Approved 'In Principle'

Marin County supervisors today approved "in principle" establishment of a Marin County planning center to improve coordination of city and county planning.

Supervisors emphasized the proposal would be discussed with the Marin Council of Mayors and Councilmen before it is adopted.

Under the proposal, the county would provide planning services for cities under contract. Cities would retain their own planning commissions and their decision-making power on individual cases, according to a report by county administrator Alan Bruce.

"There is nothing in this proposal which would change the role of city planning commission," Bruce reported.

The proposed planning center would have a staff of specialists who could be used by cities and the county at option, he said. The county would finance the planning center and cities would pay the full costs of the work they requested.

Bruce said the planning center could be an extension of the county planning department without making any major structural change.

"In no event should this proposal be construed as shutting out private planning consultants," he said.

Love Country, Not Die For It—Johnson

President Wants Youth To Live For U.S. Future

WASHINGTON (UPI) — President Lyndon B. Johnson said today his greatest hope is that he can pave the way for every American boy to grow to manhood "loving his country — instead of dying for it."

He made the remark in departing from a prepared speech before an AFL-CIO audience, his second address in two days before a major union group.

Johnson said the United States will strive for 'reasoned agreement" rather than use of force or threats of force to settle international differences.

The people of this country have more blessed hopes than for bitter victory," Johnson said. "Our hope is to enjoy reasoned agreement instead of ready aggression—to substitute understanding for retaliation."

DOMESTIC ISSUES

Johnson's speech to the National Legislative Conference of the AFL-CIO's building and construction trades department focused on domestic issues, primarily his anti-poverty crusade. He also renewed a call he issued yesterday to the United Auto Workers convention in Atlantic City to guard against revival of the price-wage spiral.

Then, departing from his prepared text, Johnson told the enthusiastic audience that before he concluded he wanted to "talk to you about your family and mine—about their future and this country's future."

"My most fervent prayer is to be a president who can make it possible for every boy in America to grow to manhood loving his country—instead of dying for it," he asserted.

NOT SAME

He said the world as it was yesterday and world as it is today are not the same.

It used to be, he explained, that large scale wars could be waged without risking the future of civilization. But in this nuclear age, he said, when 50 to 100 million people on either side could be wiped out in the first hours of an attack "general war is impossible."

"Some alternatives are essential," Johnson said. "The people of the world prefer reasoned agreement to readied attack. This is our objective: the quest of peace, not the quarrel for war—reasoned agreement, instead of rash retaliation."

In the earlier portions of his remarks, centering on his domestic legislative program, the president was interrupted more than a dozen times with applause and cheers as he vowed to work for full employment and abolition of poverty.

Kennedy Half Dollar Goes On Sale In D.C.

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The John F. Kennedy half dollar went on sale today and crowds of eager buyers descended on the Treasury Department and banks here to be among the first to purchase the new coin.

Despite treasury assurances that some 500,000 coins would be available for sale in Washington, hundreds of buyers lined up in the pre-dawn darkness in front of the treasury building entrance.

Supervisors Vote To Start On Veteran Memorial Plans

County Amphitheater Dropped For Present

By ROBERT M. COPPOCK

The Marin County Veterans' Memorial Auditorium will be built at the county fairgrounds, north of the Civic Center.

Funds for construction will come from both the veterans memorial fund and pari-mutuel state funds which have been saved, until now, for an amphitheater. Plans for the amphitheater will be dropped for the present.

The board of supervisors today decided to go ahead with these plans, and instructed the Frank Lloyd Wright Foundation to make necessary changes in the Civic Center master plan for presentation to the state by June 1.

That date is the deadline for a change in plans for use of the state money.

County Administrator Alan Bruce had recommended that Stanford Research Institute make a $22,700 study of the fairgrounds, including the auditorium, with recommendations on the veterans' building to be made before the deadline.

'BADLY NEEDED'

But W. P. Duhamel, former county veterans service officer, appeared to say that he could not conceive of a study by any group which would not say that the auditorium was badly needed now.

Duhamel said a veterans' committee which has been working for the building for 16 years would like to see a flat-floored building that could be used as an exhibit hall and convention site. He said there was no objection to its use by the county fair also.

Supervisor Byron W. Leydecker said he felt earlier worries about state control of operation of the building if state funds were used were groundless.

Auditor-Controller Michael Mitchell agreed, saying that all the state insists upon is adequate construction and architectural standards and that income be plowed back into maintenance of the building.

FUSSELMAN FEARS

Supervisor William D. Fusselman said he feared future state bureaucrats might seek more control. However, he said he saw no problem about architectural approval compatible with the county's master plan for civic center and fair grounds development.

Supervisor Peter H. Behr then moved that it be board policy to go full speed ahead on plans for the auditorium, which Duhamel said could be used, temporarily at least, by performing arts groups.

The motion passed unanimously.

Leydecker then said the Stanford Research Institute survey should be taken under consideration. He said he felt the study, in essence, "a market analysis" of other facilities, was needed badly.

The survey consideration will be taken up again by the board April 7.

Redistricting Case Returns To U.S. Court

Marin County has been called back into federal district court on the question of changes in supervisorial boundaries, and County Counsel Douglas J. Maloney today charged the action is "harassment."

Maloney asked the board of supervisors for permission to seek legal sanctions against John P. Rooney, attorney for the San Rafael Junior Chamber of Commerce who has filed a new federal court action to force redistricting. The board, however, declined permission.

Rooney has asked for a summary judgment by the federal court, on the ground that its previous decision not to intervene was taken solely because the state supreme court then was considering the question. The state court since has ruled that stop-gap redistricting done Jan. 31 by the supervisors may stand for the June primary and

Mrs. LBJ Praises South Space Work

HUNTSVILLE, Ala. (AP) — Mrs. Lyndon B. Johnson flew to the Marshall Space Flight Center today and declared she is proud of the part Alabama and the South are playing in the nation's space program.

"The South has hitched its wagon to a star," she told an airport welcoming party.

Space officials and civic and community leaders joined in greeting the president's wife, who came for a look at America's man-on-the-moon project.

Violence Flares In Jacksonville

JACKSONVILLE, Fla. (UPI) — Four white newsmen today were chased by an angry mob of Negro youths who overturned their car, set it afire and showered rocks and bottles on police trying to quell racial violence in this northwest Florida city.

One of the newsmen, Life reporter Michael S. Durham of Miami, was chased down and beaten by the screaming youngsters as he tried to flee. (See also story page 2.)

The other three escaped in a hail of bricks and rocks.

The new outburst occurred near New Stanton High School following a night of bloody violence in which a Negro woman was shot from ambush from a passing car, whites were slashed and fired upon by snipers in the Negro section. Roving Negro gangs broke scores of windshields of passing motorists.

Elsewhere in the city, a band of 150 young rock-carrying Negroes staged a march in an outlying area of the city. They were broken up by police who hauled two busloads away to jail.

More than 140 Negroes were jailed yesterday as the racial

FAIRFAX POLICE HELP DELIVER BABY GIRL

Two Fairfax police delivered a baby girl in an apartment living room today while waiting for an ambulance to take the mother to the hospital.

Officers Ona D. Carver and Paul Simpson arrived at the apartment of Mrs. Fred Kitzmiller, 780 Center Boulevard, before the ambulance, and were aiding Mrs. Kitzmiller who was in late stages of labor.

"All of a sudden the baby came," said Officer Simpson.

The officers delivered the baby at 9:30 a.m. and then the ambulance arrived to take mother and child to Marin General Hospital.

"A couple of the neighbors assisted," Simpson said.

The hospital reported that the baby, who weighed five pounds, five and one-half ounces, and her mother, were doing well.

MacArthur Has Surgery Again

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Gen. Douglas MacArthur's doctors reported today the old soldier is "progressing as well as can be expected" from his second major operation in 18 days.

MacArthur

But his doctors disclosed that in addition to a six-hour operation yesterday to halt severe internal bleeding, it became necessary early today to perform a tracheostomy on the 84-year-old war hero. This entails insertion of a tube through an incision in the throat to aid breathing.

A team of doctors headed by the Army's surgeon general examined MacArthur this morning and issued a brief statement saying only that he was progressing as well as could be expected.

But other hospital sources said the General's heart beat and blood pressure were normal — encouraging signs—after anesthesia wore off.

Actor Peter Lorre Dies At 59

HOLLYWOOD (AP)—Peter Lorre, whose soft-boiled egg eyes and whiny voice made him one of the movies' most popular heavies, is dead, victim of a stroke.

The body of the 59-year-old Hungarian actor was found beside his bed yesterday by a housekeeper who came to clean his apartment. He had suffered from high blood pressure for years.

Lorre

Since 1927, Lorre had chilled movie audiences the world over as a master portrayer of the psychopathic killer. Off screen, he was gentle, witty, well-read and gregarious.

Short and round, Lorre for years adhered to the principle of eating and drinking as one pleases—and absolutely no physical exercise.

Salinger Goes On With Campaign

Jordan balked on whether Salinger is eligible to run for election since he's a registered voter in Virginia, and whether he had been a registered member of the Democratic Party for 90 days or more.

Jordan said, "This has got to be settled by the courts"

Salinger's attorneys said they may ask the State Supreme Court for a final decision on Salinger's residency issue.

U. S. Envoy To Japan Stabbed

TOKYO (AP)—U.S. Ambassador Edwin O. Reischauer was reported recovering in a Tokyo hospital tonight from a stab wound in the right thigh inflicted by a Japanese youth who police said was mentally deranged.

Police said the assailant, Norikazu Shiotani, 19, was nearsighted and told them he wanted to protest because the United States and Japanese governments did not do enough for people with poor sight.

Reischauer

The police said Shiotani had tried unsuccessfully earlier this year to set fire to ar U. S. Embassy building to advance his crusade.

The police said there apparently was no political motive for the assault. President John F. Kennedy's appointment in 1961 of the popular, Japanese-speaking ambassador was widely hailed in Japan because of Reischnauer's scholarly knowledge of Asia.

The ambassador was given blood transfusion to compensate for heavy loss of blood.

Negro Woman Is Killed In Race Violence

JACKSONVILLE, Fla. (AP) — A sniper's bullet killed a Negro woman and three men were wounded by gunfire last night, bringing tragedy into continued racial violence in and around Jacksonville.

A gun fired from a passing car brought death to Johnnie Mae Chappell, 36, mother of several children. She was shot as she walked along U.S. 1, northwest of the city limits.

Two white men and a Negro man were shot and wounded, none seriously.

The shootings and at least 10 fire bombings came while a parade of young Negroes went before City Judge John Santora and, in most cases, headed for $25 fines and seven-day terms at the city prison farm.

Virtually all the 140 defendants, arrested during a day of hit-and-run demonstrations and defiance of police orders to disperse, were charged with unlawful assembly.

More than 80 juveniles also were taken into custody. Those whose parents came for them were handed over.

The place where the violence first flared is an ancient two-story wooden building in a Negro section which houses a campaign sub-headquarters of Mayor Haydon Burns. He is one of six Democrats seeking the nomination for governor in May.

A fire there last night was the result of rags piled at the rear of the building and ignited, firemen said. Sunday night, three kerosene filled bottles were smashed against the building.

Negroes were aroused against the mayor by a message Saturday night pledging to halt selective sit-in demonstrations at downtown restaurants and hotels.

U.S. Guerrilla Force Slated For S. Vietnam

WASHINGTON (AP) — U. S. planners hope to remold South Vietnam's Rangers into a mobile guerrilla force that would move into Communist-infested areas ahead of conventional Vietnamese army units.

The specially trained Rangers would feel out the Communist Viet Cong, locate and engage their concentrations and enable the helicopter-borne Vietnamese army to strike with a sure blow at the elusive Red guerrillas.

This is what the White House referred to last week when it spoke of creating "a highly trained guerrilla force that can beat the Viet Cong on its own ground."

The idea is not a new one. The United States has been training South Vietnamese Ranger companies at least as far back as 1961.

In the view of the highest U. S. military authorities, these counterguerrillas haven't been nearly as effective as they should have been.

One main reason, authorities say, is that many Ranger units were used as ordinary infantry and their special training as antiguerrilla bush fighters was wasted.

Snow, Rain, Wind, Slides Plague Western Half Of U.S.

By ASSOCIATED PRESS

The western half of the nation was pounded with snow, rain, stong winds, mud slides and spiraling temperatures today as a storm moved northeast across the Dakotas.

In the eastern half, relatively mild temperatures and predominantly clear skies prevailed.

The storm contained winds which gusted up to 50 miles per hour in some areas, reducing visibility to less than one mile. A blizzard raged over the Red River Valley, drifting snow in the eastern Dakotas and western Minnesota.

Cold wave warnings were in effect for Minnesota, northern and western Iowa and eastern and south central Nebraska.

Temperatures plummeted far below zero in Montana. Lewistown reported the mercury at -18 and dropping. Cutbank reported -14, Great Falls -11 and Billings -8.

Another storm gained momentum over the Nevada-Utah area and heavy snows were forecast for the area.

'Hire Older Persons'

LONDON (AP)—British bosses were urged yesterday to hire women 60 and over for their office staffs. "Compared with the dizzying procession of young girls passing through secretarial and typing posts, a fit and capable woman of 60 is a very rock of stability," said a report from the National Corporation for Care of Old People.

Demos Win Vote In Baker Probe

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Robert G. (Bobby) Baker probe may finally be heading into eclipse. Democrats have mowed down Republican demands for additional major witnesses and an accountant has abandoned his charge of income tax forgery.

The Democrats on the Senate rules committee overpowered the GOP minority yesterday and refused to call White House aide Walter Jenkins, Democratic fund raiser Matt McCloskey and others to testify.

Chairman B. Everett Jordan (D-N.C.) said their testimony would be irrelevant or repetitive of what has been heard already in its investigation of Baker, former secretary to the Senate's Democratic majority.

The committee is exploring whether conflict of interest was involved as Baker, while as $19,600 a year Senate official, accumulated a fortune he estimated in excess of two million dollars. The Democrats contend they have heard enough evidence already to provide the basis for a report to the Senate.

Jordan called the committee to another closed door meeting today to consider one by one witnesses the Republicans want called before the inquiry ends.

Sen. Hugh Scott (R-Pa.) predicted that "the result will be the same whitewash."

He said the Republicans, outnumbered six to three on the committee, had been "chopped down" in yesterday's voting and he thought the Democrats still were "honing the ax."

Milton L. Hauft, an accountant who charged last week that someone had forged his signature on some of Baker's income tax returns abandoned the allegation.

All that was involved, Hauft said, was a "very minor discrepancy" which resulted in Baker collecting an additional $11.25 in a $4,420.20 income tax refund for 1961.

NOW RETIRING

Teacher Gave Up Farming For Math

Thomas N. Edwards of San Anselmo, once a farmer in the San Joaquin Valley, will wind up 36 years of mathematics teaching in June, all but two years of it served in the Tamalpais Union High School District.

Edwards, now father of two and grandfather to five, grew up on a farm near Fowler, returned to it after brief World War I military service. For five years he and his brother grew raisins, peaches and alfalfa on two ranches.

But to get anywhere in farming, you needed capital. Edwards decided to go back to school.

He was interested in studying chemistry and medicine. But for that kind of investment, you also needed capital.

So Edwards went to nearby Fresno State College to become a teacher, transferred to University of California at Berkeley. He worked in the library. On a clear day he could see Tam High, well-known at Cal.

He kept his sights on Tam, even while serving a two-year apprenticeship in Los Angeles. Thirty-four years ago, Edwards started teaching math at Tamalpais High School. He stayed there until 1951 when the Tamalpais High School District opened its second school, Drake High in San Anselmo. He has been at Drake ever since.

He has not regretted choosing the teaching profession. At first he missed contact with the good earth, but decided home gardening, one of his several leisurely hobbies, was sufficient.

Edwards has of course seen numerous changes in teaching as a profession. Recognition of its value, he believes, has been slow. He thinks even now it is recognized only among other professional people, not much among the general public.

"But," he added, "where economic return is the major measure of success, a teacher's often considered a fool."

Edwards doesn't feel that way after practicing the art 36 years.

Savings, Loan Exec Shot By Shabby Young Gunman

SOUTH SAN FRANCISCO (AP)—A savings and loan company executive was shot and critically wounded yesterday by a shabby young gunman who fled apparently empty-handed, police said.

Nate C. DiGiobbi, 45, of San Francisco, vice president of the Industrial Savings and Loan Assn., underwent surgery for a bullet wound in the chest at Peninsula Hospital, Burlingame. Hospital officials termed his condition "critical."

Police said the shooting occurred in the savings and loan firm's office opposite South San Francisco City Hall.

A secretary, Mrs. Lillian McCauley, told police she overheard DeGiobbi and the man discussing checking accounts. Suddenly DeGiobbi lunged over his desk and she heard a shot.

DeGiobbi slumped over his desk and the man ran. He drove off in a black sedan parked in front of the office, Mrs. McCauley told police.

Police were at a loss for a motive in the shooting. DeGiobbi was in a coma.

STEVENSON URGES U.N. PEACE FORCE

Ambassador Says Cyprus Trouble Shows Need For Quick, Effective Police Action

PRINCETON, N. J. (UPI) — Ambassador Adlai E. Stevenson last night urged the creation of a United Nations peace-keeping force that could be assigned to trouble spots quickly and effectively.

The veteran diplomat, who is the permanent chief U. S. delegate to the United Nations, pointed out that a full-fledged international force still had not been assembled in Cyprus three weeks after the Security Council authorized police action to stop fighting on the island.

"Time and again we of the United States have urged the creation of a U. N. international police force, trained specifically for the keeping of the peace," Stevenson said in a Dag Hammarskjold memorial lecture at Princeton University.

He said it would make sense for member countries of the world organization to indicate what forces, equipment and logistic support they would be willing to train for peace-keeping service, and to supply on a moment's notice.

Stevenson said world affairs have begun to move beyond the policy of containment toward "a policy of cease-fire and peaceful change."

He said the present era is jammed with violence and disorder, but the absence of war under such circumstances "puts a special mark on our times."

Since 1946, Stevenson said, there have been about 20 occasions when nations have engaged in relatively formal hostilities. Only one — India's invasion of Goa — "was settled in the traditional way in which wars have been settled in the past," he said.

"The record suggests that if fighting breaks out somewhere tomorrow, the chances are good that the next step will not be the sound of trumpets but the call to cease-fire."

Stevenson confirmed officially that the United States has been conferring with Russia on a financial formula to provide a firmer foundation for future peace-keeping operations.

Russia and several other U. N. members are in danger of losing their General Assembly votes under U. N. charter provisions because of their refusal to pay assessments for the Congo and Middle East peace-keeping operations.

Drug To Aid Childless May Produce Twins

LOS ANGELES (AP) — A specialist on human infertility says that a new drug—for women who can't have babies—often has a double-barrel side effect—twins.

Information on the drug, clomiphene citrate, was released yesterday by the California Medical Assn.

Dr. M. James Whitelaw, infertility specialist at San Jose, said the pills were 80 per cent effective in inducing ovulation among 1,500 women who used them for two years.

The drug is still under investigation, he said, but will be submitted next month to the Food and Drug Administration.

He said the side effect, multiple births, mostly twins, shows up in about 16 per cent of the induced pregnancies. The normal occurrence of twins is about 1 per cent.

Dr. Whitelaw said the pills, taken four or five days each month, sometimes over-stimulate the ovaries to produce more than one egg.

HOW TO KEEP WELL

By DR. THEODORE R. VAN DELLEN

Significance Of Fever Depends On Such Things As Cause, Person's Age

VAN DELLEN

The significance of fever depends upon the cause, the age, how long it lasts, and at what time of day it occurs. Temperatures seldom go higher than 105 degrees F. but the height is not necessarily an index of the severity of the illness. It is true that few survive readings over 109 degrees but such temperatures are rare.

Fever lasting less than two weeks usually stems from a simple respiratory or other infection. Should it persist, we suspect a more serious disorder such as tuberculosis, rheumatic fever, rheumatoid arthritis, cancer, drug toxicity, or an obscure disease.

SOMETHING MUST be done about the effects of fever on the body. A temperature of 103 degrees F. or more produces dehydration and excessive amounts of salt are eliminated through profuse sweating. Metabolism rises so that food is burned up at a fast rate and some persons lose up to four pounds a day in this way. More fluids (up to three quarts), salt, and food are needed to combat dehydration, weight reduction, and lack of strength. Sponging and aspirin help lower the reading.

Age enters the picture. Children have higher readings than do adults for comparable infections. A youngster may have a temperature of 104 during the first day of a sore throat but it may not rise above 101 in diphtheria, rheumatic fever, or appendicitis. Convulsions are likely to occur in youngsters when a high temperature persists.

ON THE CONTRARY, older persons have lower temperatures when they develop respiratory and other infections. The reason is not known except that they react more slowly to fever-causing agents. This phenomenon backfires occasionally because the oldster refuses to believe he is ill when the temperature is normal or only slightly elevated. But a high reading in the elderly is a serious sign.

(Dr. Van Dellen will answer questions on medical topics if stamped, self-addressed envelope accompanies request.)

SPASMODIC PAIN

B. B. writes: Whenever I lift a heavy object or make a quick turn, my back bothers me. I get sort of spasm. Can anything be done about this type of backache?

REPLY

Yes, but the remedy depends upon the cause. Start by having a thorough examination of the spine, including X-rays. These studies would determine whether your spasms are due to muscle strain, arthritis, or slipped disk. Temporary relief may be obtained by wearing a corset, applying heat, and exercising the back muscles. Send stamped, self-addressed envelope for leaflet which describes different types of backache.

CHEST PAIN

H. H. writes: Is it unusual to develop angina pectoris after (not before) coronary thrombosis?

REPLY

No. Chest pains are more common before a heart attack but they may come on afterward.

INTAKE AND OUTGO

A. H. writes: What is meant by frequent urination — every 30 minutes, two hours, or what?

REPLY

Much depends upon the intake of fluids. Frequent urination is more often than every three hours during the day.

YAWS FROM SPIROCHETES

E. S. writes: Is yaws curable?

REPLY

Yes. This largely tropical disease is caused by a spirochete and responds to penicillin.

Gate Bridge Board Probes Concrete Falling From Span

Golden Gate Bridge District officials today were trying to find out why a small piece of bridge went tumbling down Sunday afternoon.

An egg-size piece of concrete hit the bridge deck of the British liner Oriana as it passed under the span. It hurt no one and did little damage to the deck, but it has caused bridge officials considerable consternation.

Manager James Adam of the bridge district was not able to say exactly where the chunk came from. It hit the liner at 4:30 p.m.

Adam said the concrete may have sluffed off the bridge because of rapid temperature changes that have taken place recently. However, he did not discard the possibility that a pedestrian might have thrown the chunk off the bridge.

He said there has been some recent construction work and the piece of concrete might have been accidentally left on the bridge sidewalk during the cleanup.

He insisted that the falling chunk did not mean a structural deficiency in the bridge.

situation mounted during a daylong wave of vandalism by the roving Negro gangs.

Durham was taken to a hospital for treatment of lacerations of his head, a sprained wrist and a bruised leg.

The three other newsmen with Durham were George Harmon, assistant city editor of the Jacksonville Journal; photographer Bart Parker of the Journal and Florida Times-Union; and Charles Moore, a Time-Life reporter from Miami.

They escaped on foot, jumped in another reporter's car and were driven back from the area.

Police fired their pistols into the air to break up the wild demonstration at the high school.

Today's trouble started at the Negro high school, where students were dismissed following a telephoned anonymous bomb threat, then began milling around outside and taunting police and reporters.

Project 17 Architect Is Asked

Mill Valley Parks and Recreation Commission last night voted to recommend that Sausalito architect Roy Starbird be hired to plan improvements to the community and youth center at Project 17.

Starbird, said commission chairman Dean Meyer, said he could start on working drawings almost immediately so that volunteer labor, already being used on the project, could "proceed on the most fruitful basis." Starbird was selected after the commission interviewed several architects, Meyer reported.

It was recommended to City Mgr. Bert A. Balmer that five cents of the tax rate for 1964-65 be allocated to Project 17 toward installation of three tennis courts which are in the current engineering plan of the site.

Also recommended in the budget are further development of the approved master plan for Old Mill and Sycamore Parks, and additional playground equipment for Sycamore Park.

The commission recommended to council that reimbursements for the proposed Old Mill library site to the parks and recreation department be a combination of funds from the sale of the existing library and transfer of a portion of city-owned marshlands to the department.

4. Save San Rafael taxpayers very little money, since it would add almost as much to the building's cost as the federal government would contribute.

5. "Worst of all, the compromise in design would be such that the whole functioning of the police department would be impaired."

Representatives of the architect committee visited federally financed disaster centers in Livermore, San Jose and San Mateo and made a thorough study of the matter, Gromme said.

"Our unanimous recommendation is that the center should not be included in the city hall," he said.

City Manager Andersen said he would endorse the architects' recommendation.

Gromme explained some of the difficulties in incorporating the disaster center into the city hall:

Floors, walls and pillars of the first floor portion devoted to public safety departments would have to be made heavier, the pillars being "massive" to meet federal disaster center requirements.

No utility lines could be brought in through floor or walls of that portion, so they would have to be run up the walls outside to the second floor.

There could be no windows in that portion of the building, the result being a "fortress-like appearance."

There are many other objections from architectural and engineering standpoints, he said.

Gromme suggested it would be much more practical to include a disaster center later as a basement under a new central fire station, which is planned adjoining the new city hall a few years hence. There is such an installation in Livermore, used as sleeping quarters for firemen, and it works out quite satisfactorily, he reported.

Hanging Victim's Relatives Sought

Attempts were being made today to locate relatives of Arnold Allen Pulling, 79, an unemployed seaman whose body was found Saturday beneath a bay tree north of Marin City from which he hung himself March 10.

Letters were sent yesterday by the Marin County Coroner's office to the Seamen's Union in Seattle, Wash., the Portland, Ore., welfare department and to a Portland attorney whose card was found in Pulling's trouser pocket in an effort to find relatives of the dead man.

Funeral services at Redwood Chapel Funeral Home in Novato are pending results of the search.

Permit For Pumps

Sausalito-Marin City Sanitary District directors last night granted George Kappas a permit to install pumps for a sewer line to connect with the district line for an office building at Kappas Yacht Harbor.

School Workers' Role 'Important'

Custodians and other classified employees play "an important and essential role" in the education of children and make more classroom contacts daily than anyone except the principal, Marin's first countywide classified school employees workshop was told today.

The assertion was made in the keynote talk by Supt. Ralph Giovanniello of San Jose School District to nearly 200 classified employees gathered in the multi-use room of Meadow Park School at Hamilton Air Force Base.

"I think school secretaries make more contacts with parents than anyone else in the school system," said Giovanniello. He dwelt on a theme that "classified employees represent an untapped tremendous resource in teaching because of their knowledge and ability" in special fields.

San Jose School District's Pacheco chapter of the California School Employees Assn. was host to the all-day workshop.

Giovanniello told of a case at an unnamed school where a custodian visited a fourth grade classroom briefly two or three times a day to correct pupils in pronunciation of Spanish, which an instructor had begun teaching before state law required such a course in that grade.

"Each of you is a public relations person for your school district," he said, "in your talks with neighbors about the district. Thus you are a vital communication link to your community. You function in an administrative capacity. In short, your job is not as simple as you may think, or as it may appear on the surface."

The day-long meeting was opened by Lewis G. McCall, director of maintenance for San Rafael city schools and past president of the CSEA. Following Giovanniello's address, it split into workshop sessions which were to continue through the afternoon.

COURT

November general election.

Now that the state has acted, Rooney's petition reasons, the federal court can issue an injunction.

Maloney said he felt the federal court had delayed to have a full hearing of the facts. He called Rooney's new filing "vexation and harassment."

"I have matters concerning more than three million dollars sitting on my desk," grumbley Maloney, "that I'll have to shove aside to take care of this."

Supervisor Peter H. Behr said he did not think now would be the right time to ask for sanctions. He said the county should presume Rooney is acting in good faith, at least this time.

On any similar move in the future, Behr said, he would go along with the request to seek sanctions. Maloney said sanctions might include some payment for the county's attorney's time.

The county must be represented in federal court March 30 on the summary judgment request.

Behr said that Maloney shoul dbe prepared to defend the county on the issue by now anyway. The board instructed Maloney to defend the county in the hearing.

Ross Intern Teaching Plan Backed

Members of the Ross School District board agreed in a special meeting last night to begin an intern teaching program next fall.

Supt. William W. Monahan said the district will inquire of universities in the area which provide intern teachers, and will arrange to hire one intern for the 1964-65 school year.

In the only other business of the special session, board members discussed a number of proposed ways for organizing classes flexibly to adapt to differences in individual pupils' learning abilities.

No action was taken, but the problem will be explored further after teachers have been given the chance to add their suggestions, Monahan said.

Home-Made Bomb Tossed Onto Patio

A home-made bomb, similar to the so-called "Molotov cocktails," yesterday was hurled onto the concrete patio at the home of Jack J. Beckerman at 118 Richardson Drive, Mill Valley, it was reported by Marin County sheriff's office.

Beckerman said little damage resulted, and no one was injured. He said his mother-in-law, Mrs. Marina Pellegrini, was home and heard the explosion about noon.

The "bomb" probably contained gasoline and inflammable materials in a wine bottle, deputies said.

Beckerman said it was apparently thrown from a nearby hillside by juveniles.

Husband Is Jailed On Battery Charge

Emil Joseph Ramorino, 42, of Tamalpais Drive, Corte Madera, was jailed by Corte Madera police last night at 8:30 p.m. on a charge of assault and battery made by his wife, Jayne Merle Ramorino.

Police Inspector Harold N. Hockett and Officer George Newman were called to the home by Mrs. Ramorino, who said her husband was threatening her.

firmed the right of voters to express their opinion of the lots and this will be done in measure B.

The Shelter Cove lots are paid for, $41,000 having been paid by the city and $22,000 by citizens.

"If the purchase of the lots by the city council is not upheld by the voters," said Mrs. Williams, "the city will be obliged to sell the lots with the possible consequence of losing the open water view which Sausalito residents and visitors alike now enjoy."

One of five questions candidates will be asked to speak upon at the Sausalito Citizens Council candidates' meeting at 8 p.m. tomorrow in Central School is as follows:

"Should the city's long standing policy of acquiring underwater lots, such as in Shelter Cove, be supported and continued? If you agree with this policy, would defeat of ballot measure B change your view?"

Education Specialists To Gather Tomorrow

Teachers in various fields of special education, including training the mentally retarded, deaf and orthopedically handicapped, will gather at the Civic Center at 9:30 a.m. tomorrow for a workshop on new methods and to plan future programs.

They will be joined by a member of the county board of education, Mrs. Adele J. Alpers, and representatives of community groups.

MARIN'S LARGEST BASSET LITTER?

Jimmy Squire, 11, of 39 Corte Toluca in Greenbrae tries hard to hold on to his family's litter of 11 Basset Hound puppies, believed to be the largest litter of this breed born recently, perhaps ever, in Marin County. Dog expert Jack Greene, president of the Sir Francis Drake Kennel Club, says a normal litter has from six to eight pups. Mother of the six-week-old puppies is Bauregard's Little Heidi. The purebred animals will get "official" registered names, but now are tagged with such names as "Prudence," "Sir Hugo," and "Squalor Doolittle."

$100 Million Is Urged For Small Harbors

SACRAMENTO (CNS) — A private consulting firm has recommended the legislature be asked for 100 million dollars over the next 10 years to be used in carrying out a small craft harbors and facilities development plan, including a chain of 34 harbors of refuge along the California coast. Included would be Point Reyes and Bolinas.

The study, made by the firm of Leeds, Hill and Jewett, under contract to the small craft harbors commission, was presented to the commission some time ago and is expected to be made public soon. A State Senate committee already has announced plans to hold a series of hearings on the report.

The consulting firm specifically recommended 34 sites for the chain of harbors of refuge, to be established at about 35-mile intervals. These included:

Crescent City, Trinidad, Mattole Point, Point Delgada, Noyo, Arena Cove, Fort Ross, Bodega, Point Reyes, Bolinas, Half Moon Bay, Point Ano Nuevo, Santa Cruz, Monterey, Big Sur River, San Simeon, Morro Bay, Point Sal, Point Conception, Cuyler, Chinese Harbor, Santa Barbara, Ventura Marina, Channel Islands Harbor, Port Hueneme, Marina Del Rey, Redondo, Los Angeles - Long Beach, Isthmus, Alamitos Bay-Anaheim Bay, Newport Bay, Oceanside-Del Mar, Mission Bay and San Diego Bay.

In a long series of other recommendations, the firm said the division of small craft harbors "should not consider projects for financial participation on a first- come, first-served basis, but should base their potential participation on an adopted priority system."

Assembly Education Group Passes First School Aid Bill

SACRAMENTO (AP) — The first of a satchel full of major school financing bills has been passed on to the Assembly ways and means committee from the lower house education committee.

Backed by the California Teachers Assn., the measure approved last night calls for a total of 98 million dollars in new state aid to schools, in addition to 27.5 million dollars from a countywide tax at the local level—for a 125.5-million-dollar package.

It is sponsored by Assemblyman Charles B. Garrigus (D-Reedley, chairman of the education group. A similar bill won the committee's backing last year but got nowhere.

It includes 8 million dollars for adult education increased aid, which if adopted would be the first boost for that program's basic financing in a decade.

Another measure given approval would raise the maximum allowable tax rate a local election board can set without going to the voters for an override election.

Sponsored by Assemblyman Richard J. Donovan (R-Chula Vista) it would boost the limit for elementary school taxes by 45 cents, and the top for high schools by 50 cents.

The other major reform measures certain to meet vigorous opposition also were introduced yesterday.

Assembly Speaker Jesse Unruh (D-Los Angeles) submitted his new proposal to deny future increases in state aid to non-unified districts.

Sen. Albert S. Rodda (D-Sacramento) introduced Gov. Edmund G. Brown's bill calling for 80.3 million dollars in new aid over two years, including a countywide equalization tax.

Unruh's bill, set for an Assembly education committee hearing tomorrow, replaces one that would have cut the number of school districts in the state from 1,583 to 108 countywide and charter city districts.

The speaker proposes 75 million dollars in new state aid, and would give the more than 1,000 elemnetary districts until 1967 to voluntarily unify along the lines of the roughly 380 high school districts if they wanted some of it.

After that date, the State Board of Education would have the power to compel unification.

Brown's proposal would raise 19 million dollars from the countywide tax, and the remainder, including 20 million dollars in tidelands funds, would come from the state.

Rafferty Says Gimmicks Used To Avoid School Aid

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — Gov. Edmund G. Brown's administration and the legislature are using "gimmicks to avoid giving more than lip service to financial aid to schools," State School Superintendent Max Rafferty declared last night.

Rafferty told some 1,100 junior and senior high school administrators that the legislature apparently wants to avoid a political blunder by raising taxes in an election year. He addressed the annual convention of the California Assn. of Secondary School Administrators.

An example of such "gimmickry," Rafferty said, is Governor Brown's proposed countywide school tax bill.

He aimed another barb at Assembly Speaker Jesse Unruh's proposal to unify school districts on a county-wide basis. The proposed measure, he said, is an indication of an attitude toward school administrators.

"It is almost as if the state administration had declared its intention to abolish school administration as a profession," he said.

School administrators, he said are regarded by legislators as "disorganized, self-centered, mercenary and virtually impotent," Rafferty added.

He predicted that the legislature will take some action toward unifying California's 1,585 school districts into a smaller number.

Orientation Session For A.F. Reserve

An Air Force reserve orientation meeting will be held at 7:30 p.m. Wednesday in room 12 in the Marin County courthouse by the 349th Troop Carrier Wing.

"The purpose of the meeting is to acquaint Marin County residents with the importance and benefits of service in the air force reserve," said Maj. Robert Boyd of 26 Sycamore Street, Larkspur, project officer.

Doctor Qualifications Due Hospital Board

The qualifications of eight doctors will be presented to the Marin Hospital District board for consideration of granting staff privileges at its meeting today at 8 p.m. at the hospital.

The board will also consider granting an increased retainer fee to Harold F. Riede, attorney for the district.

Civic Leader Found Dead In Oakland

OAKLAND (AP) — Lester M. Grant, Oakland's "Man of the Year" in 1951 and former vice mayor of the city, died yesterday of an apparent overdose of sleeping pills, Oakland city police said.

Grant, 41, was found by Helen Swan, manager of an Oakland motel where he checked in Sunday. He left word that he was not to be disturbed until yesterday, the woman said.

Grant died at Kaiser Foundation Hospital.

Police reported his death apparently was a suicide. A note, addressed to Grant's parents, was found in his room, expressing sorrow for "what he was about to do," police said.

Planners To Meet

The Mill Valley Planning Commission will consider a variance to permit construction of an office building for Marin Title Guaranty Co. at 319 Miller Avenue with less than the required number of parking spaces at a public hearing in the city hall tonight at 8 o'clock.

State GOP Holds Key To Passage Of Budget

SACRAMENTO (AP) — Budget woes beset the California Legislature today.

Assembly Democratic leaders pressed for passage of Gov. Edmund G. Brown's 3.67-billion-dollar spending program with no assurance that they can break Republican ranks to get the votes.

Minority Republicans, rebuffed in efforts to trim the total by 11 million dollars, gave every indication of holding out the 54 votes needed to prevent a stalemate.

In that case, ways and means committee chairman Robert W. Crown (D-Alameda) said he would fall back on a parliamentary device to send the bulky measure to the Senate with just 41 votes.

The Senate finance committee chairman, George Miller Jr. (D-Martinez) gave notice, however, that he would send it right back unless the bill carried the 54 votes required for final passage.

All in all, it added up to scant hope for settling the dispute before the 30-day budget session ends Easter Sunday. There was strong likelihood that the lawmakers will quit Thursday and force the governor to call a special session.

Republicans lost out in seven attempts to reduce the budget yesterday. But, with the Democratic majority four short of the required 54 votes, the GOP was in position to dicker for its demands.

What the Republicans are really after is agreement to place 620 million dollars in proposed state building and education bond issues on the June rather than the November ballot.

All seven amendments offered by the Republicans were rejected with only occasional defection in the strictly partisan lineup.

ZIP Code Use Asked

Marin County postmasters have asked persons filing federal and state income tax returns to include their ZIP code number on the tax forms. Use of the number will assist in filing the returns in the offices of the collecter of internal revenue and the California franchise tax board, said Warren H. Williams, San Rafael postmaster.

MacDonald Marin Rocky Chairman

San Rafael attorney DeWitt K. (Ken) MacDonald Jr. was named today as Marin County chairman of the Rockefeller for President campaign.

MacDonald said he feels New York Gov. Nelson A. Rockefeller is the voice of moderation.

"It is too great a luxury to stand on tihe sidelines and watch the political parade," said MacDonald. "I believe that all moderates should take an active interest. Governor Rockefeller is not merely an alternative — he is an answer.

"Despite denials by Sen. Barry Goldwater," MacDonald declared, "there is real evidence that his entire organization will succumb to its extreme right wing — bringing with it all the dangers of long-range factionalism."

George Christopher, Northern California chairman for Rockefeller, announced the appointment of MacDonald.

Court Orders Man Released

A 29-year-old man held in Marin County jail on a warrant for his arrest as a fugitive from Mississippi yesterday was ordered freed because that state failed to act in his case.

Marin Municipal Court Judge Leonard A. Thomas ordered Robert Cleveland Grady released on verification by the district attorney's office that Mississippi authorities ignored letters and a telegram notifying them of Grady's custody.

Grady was arrested on the warrant Feb. 4 upon dismissal from San Quentin Prison following a three-year sentence for grand theft.

Novato Board Hits School Ballot Delay

Novato Unified School District trustees took issue last night with a statement by Gov. Edmund G. Brown that no school district would be hurt by delaying until the November ballot a vote on a new 250-million-dollar school bond issue.

"Novato certainly would be hurt," said trustee Marett B. Boissevain.

Supt. James G. Bunker said that with state allocation money running low, seven regular classrooms and a kindergarten room, for which contracts have just been awarded, might be delayed.

The board unanimously directed Bunker to wire Governor Brown that at least one school district needs the measure on the June 2 ballot: Novato.

Two Bids Accepted For Novato Schools

Leake and White of Petaluma, low bidder of seven, was awarded a $65,253 contract for two classrooms, a library building and site work at Olive School. The base bid was $56,399 with one alternate of $1,293 for drainage, another of $6,500 for paving and fencing, and a third of $1,061 for curbing and sidewalks. The total was just $47 under that of Fostmeier Construction Co. of Petaluma.

Fostmeier was awarded a contract at $106,360 for four classrooms, a kindergarten and site work at Rancho School. Fostmeier's base bid was $97,200, plus $9,150 for the sitework.

Trustees also approved an $11,933.37 National Defense Education Act application for elementary foreign language and mathematics supplies, science equipment and books, and a 36-station language laboratory for Hill Junior High School. Half the cost would be paid by the federal government and half by the school district.

Novato School Trustees Also:

1. Adopted a retirement policy calling for teacher retirment at the end of the fiscal year following his 65th birthday. The board may make an exception to this by offering an annual contract.

2. Heard that Sunset International Petroleum Corp. and the county counsel are nearing agreement on purchase of three elementary school sites of 10 acres each, one junior high school site of 20 acres, and one high school site of 40 acres in San Marin. The district would buy the first elementary site and take options on the other sites, Supt. James G. Bunker reported. "This is 90 acres at $10,000 per acre—that is almost a million dollars for the district," Bunker said. Trustees authorized the county counsel to continue the negotiations.

3. Approved hiring a school doctor for $750 per year to give athletes physical examinations and attend football games.

4. Set 10 a.m. Saturday as a tentative time to meet with San Jose School District trustees to discuss unification of the two districts.

5. Purchased a used upholstery sewing machine for $338.

6. Accepted the resignation of Mrs. Marion Chochran, now on leave, who has moved to Sunnyvale, and denied a maternity leave to Mrs. Charlotte Silverman, who has been on leave two out of six years since employed by the district.

7. Adjusted the salary of John Cox, exchange teacher from New Zealand whose educational qualifications were not completely known at the time his contract was signed, to give him $600 more for his year teaching in the Novato district.

8. Gave the staff authority to destroy useless records more than four years old.

Board Approves Harvard District Sewer Extension

Almonte Sanitary District directors last night authorized the Harvard Avenue Road Assessment District to extend the sewer line in that area, when lots are developed, the santiary district will reimburse the road district for connections to new homes.

Ronald N. Burnett of 150 Harvard Avenue, spokesman, told the board that the road district is working with Donald R. Frost, county director of public works, for improvement of the non-county maintained roads.

Prospect of amalgamation of Almonte and Kay Park Sanitary Districts was temporarily ruled out, chairman Robert A. Alexander of Almonte District reported, after Edward Beattie, district engineer, reported the Kay Park-Almonte trunk line cannot handle any more load.

Belvedere Is Sued For Girl's Injury

The City of Belvedere yesterday was sued for $10,000 personal injuries damage by Vonnie Lauten, 15, daughter of Mrs. E. Carolyn Lauten, 319 San Rafael Avenue, Belvedere, for injuries suffered while playing on a swing at the Belvedere City Playground Sept. 7, 1962.

The suit, filed in Marin Superior Court by Mrs. Lauten as guardian of Vonnie, alleges the girl suffered a right ankle injury because the swing was defective and gave way.

Hearing Date Set In Theft Case

Edith Laverne Calhoun, 29, and Robert Leon Leonard, 36, both of San Pablo, were bound over to Marin Superior Court yesterday on felony charges of receiving stolen property.

They were arrested by Marin sheriff's officers Jan. 29 in an alleged theft of $20 from a car owned by Rev. Carl E. Walker of Burlingame and parked at McClure's Beach. Hearing date is April 6.

Driver Fined

Clifford C. Rogers, 69, of 272 Madrone Avenue, Larkspur, was fined $166 in Marin Municipal Court yesterday for drunken driving. Imposition of sentence was delayed until tomorrow. He was arrested by Fairfax police Friday.

Lobel's Wallet, Dentures Wash Up At Keil Cove

The missing wallet of Maurice Lobel, 74, whose body was washed ashore on Keil Cove Beach Sunday afternoon, was found yesterday afternoon near where the body was discovered, thus ruling out the possibility of robbery in the case, Coroner Frank J. Keaton said today.

The retired businessman's dentures also were found on the same beach east of Tiburon yesterday by the two teenaged brothers who live near the area who found the body.

Lobel, who had been suffering from loss of memory, was reported missing from his home at 312 San Rafael Avenue, Tiburon, last Wednesday morning. He had been seen along the Belvedere-Tiburon Highway asking for a ride to San Francisco that morning.

Results of toxilogical and pathological tests will not be completed for about two weeks, Keaton said, but the cause of death has been assumed to be accidental drowning.

Private funeral services were held yesterday in Mill Valley and burial was in Mount Tamalpais Cemetery in San Rafael.

Man Charged With Wheel Lock Theft

Edward John Meyer, 52, of 38B Jessup Street, San Rafael, was arrested at 5:15 a.m. today by San Rafael police and charged with the theft of a spare wheel lock from a parking lot a Third and Cijos streets. Meyer also was charged with drunkenness.

Police said they saw Meyer enter the lot, then walk out of it carrying a box. The box contained a lock belonging to Wayne M. Bongean, of 930 George Street, Novato.

Supermarket Plan Passes In Novato

The Novato Planning Commission last night approved plans for a supermarket of 20,000 square feet and another store of 4,800 square feet as the first units in a shopping center at Wilson Avenue and Novato Boulevard.

The commission ordered fencing around the center, installing sidewalks, and plantings as conditions of approval of the plans by John Novak, Inc.

The tentative map of Woodland Heights, submitted by Inglis Associates, for 57 lots on 18 acres adjacent to Forest Park unit 7 off Sunset Parkway was approved by the commission.

Rezoning from planned community to single family residential for parts of units 1, 3, 4, 5, and 6 in San Marin was approved, as were Sunset International Petroleum Corp.'s grading plans for the recreation center at San Marin, and a zone change from planned community to administrative-professional for two and a half acres at San Ramon Way and San Marin Drive.

The Novato Planning Commission also:

1. Granted Castlerock Development Co. an extension of one year to file a final map on a division of 35,730 square feet at Marion Avenue and Eighth Street into three lots.
2. Approved the preliminary map of a lot split at 1 Pastel Court, submitted by A. H. Beaudoin.
3. Board Agrees Fire Sprinkler Bid Too High

Sausalito School District trustees last night agreed that the low bid for the proposed fire sprinkler system at Central School is $2,900 too high and said they will try to get a change order to bring it into line with the budget.

Approved Automatic Sprinkler Co., San Francisco, was low bidder of four at $27,900, the sum being budgeted $25,000.

The board decided to take the matter under advisement and expects to take action April 13. The system is to be stalled this summer.

No action was taken on the 1964-65 budget due to the absence of two trustees, Mrs. Juanita Cobb and president George R. Kowski. A special meeting was set for 8 p.m. Monday to discuss the budget.

Sausalito School District trustees also:

1. Accepted an endowment of eight shares of Eastman Kodak Co. stock valued at about $120 each, from Mrs. Edith P. Truesdell of Mill Valley to be used for a "higher horizon type of program."
2. Following a report from Roy Starbird, president of the Sausalito Little League, approved installation of a fence in the outfield of Little League park for duration of the baseball season. The board stipulated that, if the fence caused hazard to school activities, it must be removed after each game, and said the Little League is responsible for upkeep.
3. Passed a resolution that any pupil who competes in organized games, such as track and basketball, must submit evidence of satisfactory physical examination before he may compete.
4. Authorized $100 to install a water meter at Richardson Bay tennis courts, the City of Sausalito to install pipes and faucets and provide a planting for a windbreak on the west side of the courts.
5. Approved five additional days work for a psychologist to complete a testing program of candidates for the gifted children program.

College Fee Protest Going To Mosk Office

A Belvedere housewife's protest against a $5 fee for taking credit courses at College of Marin is being carried to the state attorney general's office.

Mrs. Jane Sheehy of 18 Golden Gate Avenue stated her objections to the fee at the Feb. 13 meeting of the Marin Junior College District board.

Her objections were based on the fact that persons over 21 years and taking less than 10 units of courses pay taxes in the county to support the college. Persons in this category must pay a $5 fee for each credit course.

County Counsel Douglas J. Maloney, whose opinion on the legality of charging the fee was requested by the junior college district board, said today he has sought the opinion of the attorney general.

Maloney said, "it was not clear in my mind if the section in the education code on the charging of fees pertains only to adult courses or to all normal academic courses."

Maloney said it was legal to charge fees for adult education courses. Mrs. Sheehy is taking two credit courses at the college which are not in the adult education program.

Charitable Foundation Files Papers

Marin Charitable Foundation, formerly a branch of the Marin General Hospital Volunteers, has filed incorporation papers with Secretary of State Frank M. Jordan.

The group originally called the debutante branch of the volunteers, was formed in 1961, and sponsored debutante balls to aid the hospital in 1962 and 1963.

Mrs. Frank Baumgarten of Fairfax, president of the reorganized group, said the foundation plans to sponsor a similar ball this year, but has not made final decision as to how the proceeds will be used.

A 15-member board of trustees, including three men who will advise the foundation on legal an dfinancial metters has been elected. Mrs. Baumgarten said members also will donate volunteer time to hospitals in the area.

Cranston's Staff Gets Brown Aide

SACRAMENTO (AP)—Gov. Edmund G. Brown announced today that his Southern California staff secretary, Roy Ringer, is taking a leave to join State Controller Alan Cranston's U.S. Senate campaign.

The governor's office said Ringer, 45, a former Los Angeles news man and public relations director of Brown's 1962 campaign for re-election, will become Cranston's public relations director.

The governor has endorsed Cranston in his bid for the Democratic nomination for the U.S. Senate seat held by Sen. Clair Engle.

Eichler Turns Over Center To Lucas Valley

Attorney Joseph Berger, representing Eichler Homes, Inc., officially turned over Lucas Valley Community Center facilities last night to the Lucas Valley Homeowners' Assn. at a meeting of the group at the center.

He said also that Eichler has agreed to improve the condition of the building and landscaping, but said there is no plan to install a wading pool near the swimming pool.

The association named attorney Neil McNamara, who has acted as counsel for the group, as corporate attorney.

Mrs. Peter Kruger announced that the building utilization committee, which she heads, has been studying programs at Marinwood and Terra Linda to decide how the facilities should be operated.

Lt. Col. Albert Thompson of 206 C Street, San Rafael, has been presented the first Oak Leaf Cluster to the Army Commendation Medal for his service as plans officer in the plans and operations division, U. S. Military Assistance Advisory Group, in Cambodia in 1962 and 1963.

TELEVISION TUBE COVER IS STICKER

Dale Vance Dalton, 3, of 29 Francis Street, San Rafael, had fun playing with a small metal cover from a tube in the family television set yesterday.

He had fun, that is, until he discovered he could not get the tube cover off the third finger of his right hand.

His mother, Mrs. Bonnie J. Dalton, called police. They in turn took the boy to the San Rafael Fire Department, where Battalion Chief Robert Rogers quickly ended the crisis with a pair of tinsnips.

William J. Hunt, chief of California Department of Agriculture's dairy division will tell how legislation and the current milk supply can be expected to influence prices dairymen will receive this year.

Donald L. Beth, dairy specialist at University of California, Davis, will tell dairymen that some supplements now being fed may actually be harmful to cows.

Kettenhofen Aide Named; Bircher Is Spokesman

San Anselmo landscape contractor and civic leader Harold Watkin was named today as chairman of citizen Committee for Ernest Kettenhofen, candidate for supervisor.

Watkin, a member of the board of directors of the Marin Council for Civic Affairs, and his architect wife, Rebecca, live in Kentfield. Both are active in the Democratic Party. Kettenhofen is a Republican.

"Kettenhofen's broad and responsible civic leadership over the years reflect his energy and imagination as well as his deep concern for the community," Watkin declared. "It is indicative of the role he will play on the board of supervisors."

SPEAKS OUT

W. Garry Woodward of 15 Holly Avenue, Larkspur, has agreed to act as the "officially designated spokesman" of the John Birch Society for Marin County.

Woodward announced today that the National Council of the John Birch Society had formally approved this statement: "The so-called 'Civil Rights Act of 1963,' now before the Senate, is the most serious threat to both the freedom and the property of American citizens of every creed, color and economic status, that has ever been seriously considered by the Congress."

Assembly Passes Tourism Office

SACRAMENTO (CNS) — The State Assembly has voted 48-25 for a bill which would set up a new office of tourism for California, with an initial budget of $170,000.

The vote was nearly a party-line affair on the measure by Assemblyman Robert W. Crown (D-Alameda), the first major bill to clear the Assembly during the 1964 special session.

Crown said the bill would create an office of economic development which would pull together several existing agencies and set up the new office of tourism. He said California is the only state of the 50 which does not have a tourism bureau.

15 Groundsmen Complete Course

Fifteen men will complete an eight-week course in groundsman-gardening under the adult education division at College of Marin Friday and will be available for work by the hour, day or week beginning next Monday, it was announced today.

The San Rafael office of the State Department of Employment has sent 400 letters to Marin nurseries, landscape contractors, landscape architects and others regarding availability of the new gardeners, announced local office manager Edwin W. Ayer.

Firms or families wishing to hire the men may call Robert Smith at the local employment office, said Ayer.

It depends on what you're putting on the line—savings or investments. If it's an investment you're making, naturally you'll want to get a high return. And most investments do pay higher returns because higher risks are involved. But where your savings are concerned, you can't afford to take chances. Most people don't. They put their money where the interest is sure and where the principal is protected—in the bank.

Nurses Call At Homes Of Suspected TB Cases

Public health nurses this week are calling at homes of 70 persons who reacted positively to tuberculin skin tests last week in the Tamalpais High School District.

Reports of negative reactions were being prepared for mailing today by the Marin Tuberculosis and Health Assn.

Nurses will explain the meaning of positive reactions and the necessity for diagnotic tests. Also, they will help plan for the testing of all members of the reactors' households.

Approximately 66 per cent of the district's 5,030 students completed the test, co-sponsored by the TB association, county health department and the Tamalpais District. The 64 student reactors represent 2 per cent of the enrollment, or "just about what we expected," according to Dr. Mary Jo Tonelli, assistant health officer and head of the testing committee.

The six adult reactors were two teachers, three custodians, and one volunteer worker. Only a very small fraction of the school district's employees took the test, Dr. Tonelli said.

Marinite Named House President

Louis Laubscher of San Rafael has been elected president of his house, Brooks South, at Principia College in Elsah, Ill., for the 1964-65 school year.

Laubscher, son of Mr. and Mrs. L. E. Laubscher, 639 Wakerobin Lane, will take office this spring.

WHY IT PAYS TO DRIVE WITH LICENSE

ROCHESTER, N. Y. (AP) — Robert Crowe stopped his car yesterday to let children cross the street against the light.

A policeman approached to cite him for a courteous-driver-of-the-month award.

Instead, Crowe was cited for being an unlicensed operator. Police said his license had been revoked for speeding.

The celebration of Labor Day, says Encyclopedia Americana, was inaugurated in 1882, by the Knights of Labor, an organization which dominated the American labor movement at that time.

Special Job Training Set For Forces Rejects

The San Rafael office of the State Department of Employment is preparing to offer special education or job training services to young men rejected since Feb. 1 for failing to meet armed forces educational achievement standards.

The local employment department office at 805 E Street expects to receive a list of such young men rejected in Marin late this month, said manager E. W. Ayer. More than 70 young men were to have been tested by the local selective service office last week.

Under the new program the selective service office notifies the rejected youths of the services, available on a voluntary basis if the youths so wish. On appearing at the local employment office, if the rejectee is a high school dropout efforts will be made, working with local school authorities, to return the youth to school, said state employment director Albert B. Tieburg in Sacramento.

"When it is not possible or practical for the dropout to return to school, the possibility of other types of training will be fully explored," said Tieburg.

Talk On Career

San Rafael architect Ralph B. Priestly will speak to College of Marin students on a career in architecture at noon April 1 in room 92 of Olney Hall. His talk is part of a careers and opportunities forum series in which Marin County professionals are invited to speak on their occupations.

Longer School Year On Agenda

Lengthening the school year will be considered in a discussion of the 1964-65 school calendar at tonight's meeting of the Reed Union School District board of trustees.

The board will also hear a report from the merit study committee and be asked to establish the position of principal for the new Granada School.

It will consider personnel and deal with both the employment of next year's teaching staff and tenure for Billie Jean Davis, Elisabeth de Carli, Linda Gorden, Rosemary Vimont, Mrs. Corrine Greenfield, Mrs. Patricia Pierovich, and Seymour Feldman.

The board will be asked to solicit bids for the first addition to Granada School.

There are 48 covered bridges still in use in Lane County, Ore.

Quentin Felon Escapes From Forest Camp

A San Quentin Prison inmate who failed in an attempt to escape from the prison in 1959 escaped from its conservation camp at Parlan Fork, Mendocino County today.

Terry Gordon Russell, 27, was reported missing from the camp at 1:55 a.m., reported Associate Warden Dale B. Frady.

Russell broke into the state forestry office, took $3 cash and keys to a state-owned jeep, Frady said. Then he drove away in the jeep. He had been at the camp since Feb. 29.

Russell was committed to San Quentin in 1959 from El Dorado County for first degree robbery. Eight months later he and a companion sawed through their cell bars and escaped from the cellblock. They were spotted outside by a tower officer, pinned down by gunfire, and later found hiding in a warehouse near the cellblock.

Sheriff's Deputy Hurt As Car Hits Heifer

A Marin county deputy sheriff was injured at 11:30 p.m. yesterday when the patrol car he was driving hit a two-year-old Holstein heifer on Highway 101, north of San Marin Drive, Novato.

Deputy sheriff Joseph Glenn Kelly, 37, of 312 Richardson Drive, Strawberry, was driving south on Highway 101 when the heifer walked into the path of his car, according to the California Highway Patrol.

Kelly was treated for a bruised right eye at Marin General Hospital. The patrol car was badly damaged.

Joseph Roccororte, 46, of 13 Bernard Street, Mill Valley, was treated for a broken finger and scrapes and bruises yesterday at Marin General Hospital after he was involved in a two-car accident on East Blithedale Avenue at Kipling Drive, Mill Valley, at 12:15 p.m.

Roccororte was driving east on East Blithedale Avenue when his car was hit by a car driven by Michale Angel Davalos, 17, of 37 Marie Street, Sausalito, who was turning into Kipling Drive, the highway patrol reported.

Davalos was cited for failure to yield the right of way.

Junior Colleges' Treatment Hit

Mrs. Elizabeth M. Deedy, Marin Junior College District board member, said today at a meeting of the California Junior College Assn. that state colleges and University of California get a better break in Sacramento that the state's 71 junior colleges.

She said, "The unified voice of the state colleges and the University of California is a mighty roar when compared to the junior colleges."

Mrs. Deedy, speaking as a member of a panel discussion at the spring meeting of the association, suggested that the junior collegs coordinate their efforts through pooling information of what junior college district boards are doing.

INSIDE THE PARK HOME RUN

Washington Senators first baseman Tom Brown slides safely into home plate after clouting an inside the park home run yesterday against the Los Angeles Dodgers in Pompano Beach, Fla. His blow was a liner to the 410-foot marker in centerfield. The relay throw from Dodger centerfielder Willie Davis to catcher Jeff Torberg was wide. The umpire is Al Barlick. The homer, plus two round-trippers by the Senators' Bill Skowron, a Dodger last year, helped the Senators down the Dodgers 7-3 in the exhibition game. (AP Wirephoto)

Vending Machine Operator Got $100,000 From Liston

WASHINGTON (UPI)—Senate investigators were told today that Sonny Liston signed over $100,000 worth of the profits from his losing heavyweight title bout with Cassius Clay to Sam Margolis, a Philadelphia vending machine operator.

Garland D. Cherry, a young Chester, Pa., lawyer, said Liston directed that Margolis be given more than half his shares in Intercontinental Promotions, Inc., which promoted the February bout.

Cherry, secretary of Inter-Continental, was the lead-off witness as the Senate antitrust subcommittee began an investigation of the contract arrangements involved in the fight.

A key factor was the payment of $50,000 to Clay by Inter-Continental for the exclusive rights to promote his next bout.

Both chairman Phillip A. Hart (D-Mich.) and Sen. Kenneth B. Keating (R-N.Y.) castigated the present boxing situation. Hart declared that the sport has become "the object of general public disrepect and distrust.'

He added that public confidence is clearly on the decrease and "time is running out for boxing."

Keating asserted that Clay's actions before and since the title bout were bringing home to boxing fans "the seedy aspects of the fight game."

He took strong exception to Clay's association with the Black Muslim movement, which he said was "in favor of sowing the seeds of racial hate and violence."

Keating, who declared himself in favor of a national boxing commission under the federal government, concluded: "I do know that Americans of every race, regardless of their attitude toward professional boxing, look down upon those in the world of sports who match their athletic prowess with arrogance and contempt for the society that has made their achievements possible."

The senate committee will hold three days of hearings on the circumstances surrounding the Liston-Clay fight in Miami Beach last month.

Principals in the syndicate surrounding and managing Liston were the first scheduled witnesses. Hart said the subcommittee chiefly was interested in reports that the group in which Liston also is a partner, had a contract before the Miami Beach bout to control Clay's next fight if he wrested the crown from Liston.

Called to testify were Liston's manager, Jack Nilon; Cherry; Nilon's brother, Robert, executive vice president of Inter-Continental; Salvatore Avena of Camden, N.J., and Margolis.

Neither Clay nor Liston will be called. Hart said he did not think either the inarticulate Liston nor the talkative Clay could say anything helpful.

WBA DECIDES TO LET CLAY KEEP CROWN

MIAMI BEACH, Fla. (AP)—Ed Lassman, president of the World Boxing Assn., says the association has decided to let Cassius Clay keep his heavyweight championship "at least for now."

Lassman, who demanded earlier that Clay be stripped of the title he won from Sonny Liston, said today: "I don't expect any action before August."

"We have decided not to make a decision on Clay until after we have heard from the Senate hearings," Lassman said. "And not until after we have given Clay a hearing. I don't expect any action before August."

Rob Bob Wins

ALBANY (AP) — Rob Bob, $5.40, came from behind on the stretch turn yesterday for a 1¼-length triumph in the feature at Golden Gate Fields.

Perry Stars In Giants Win

TUCSON, Ariz. (AP)—Gaylord Perry remains an enigma to the San Francisco Giants as he gets what could be his last chance with the National League club.

Signed for a bonus reported at $90,000 in 1958, the 6-foot-4 righthander from Williamston, N.C., has pitched well in the minors but erratically when he gets chances in the major leagues.

He probably won the chance to open the season with the Giants when he turned in his best spring performance yesterday as San Francisco beat the Boston Red Sox 7-4.

Perry pitched five innings, gave up only one run, four hits, didn't walk a man and struck out two. In the ninth, Perry got Bob Tillman on an infield roller, struck out pinch hitter Dick Williams and then came up with a fine fielding play. Dalton Jones hit a right side roller that Perry started after, saw he couldn't field and so quickly covered first to take a throw from first baseman Dick Dietz.

When the Giants were scheduled against Cleveland, as they were today at Tucson, Perry used to meet up with his older brother, Jim, who didn't get a big bonus to sign but pitched the better in major competition.

Now Jim is with Minnesota training in Florida so the brothers don't get together in the spring.

Gaylord first showed with San Francisco in 1962 after a 10-7 season at Tacoma where he posted a 2.48 earned-run average. With the Giants he was 3-1 but with only a 5.23 ERA. He pulled a fielding boner in the second game of the playoffs with Los Angeles that helped the Dodgers to victory.

Back with the Giants last season, Perry was only 1-6 with a 4.03 ERA. He had been shipped back to Tacoma on Aug. 8 but was brought back 10 days later when Jim Duffalo was injured.

Against the Bosox yesterday, the Giants scored four runs in the second inning after the American Leaguers collected three off Billy O'Dell in the first.

Frank Malzone doubled in two Boston runs and Lou Clinton singled home another.

Then the Giants went ahead to beat the Red Sox a fifth straight time. Orlando Cepeda singled. Tom Haller doubled and Cepeda scored on Jim Hart's sacrifice fly. Jose Pagan walked. O'Dell looked at a third strike.

Jesus Alou singled to shallow left scoring Haller and then Chuck Hiller slammed a line drive that bounced over Carl Yastrzemski's head for a triple.

The victory put the Giants' spring record at 13-4, including two alternate-team losses, as they reached the midway point in their Cactus League play.

Howard Is Ready To Join Dodgers

GREEN BAY, Wis. (UPI) — Only a "few loose ends" stood in the way today of a return to baseball by Frank Howard, and Los Angeles Dodger general manager E. J. (Buzzie) Bavasi was determined to tie them together.

Howard, the big Dodger outfielder, astounded baseball people last week when he said he was retiring because of "personal problems." But he said at his home here yesterday he "would play this season"—if he and Bavasi could agree on things when they had their scheduled telephone conversation today.

"I have no idea what Bavasi and I will talk about," said Howard.

"I want to play," he said. "But first I'd like to kick around a few things with Bavasi. I don't know what he has on his mind. I'm ready to go down to Vero Beach (the Dodgers' Florida spring training base). I hope Buzzie feels the same way I do."

Bavasi said at Pompano Beach, Fla., he was "encouraged" by the possibility that Howard would play this season, based on reports he received during the weekend from Green Bay.

Howard's change of heart evidently occurred during the weekend. His wife said Sunday he had received a wire from Bavasi.

The 6-foot-8 onetime Ohio State basketball star said he had a long talk with George Macklin, an executive of Green Bay Packaging Corp., a paper firm for which Howard works in the off-season.

"I knew he would be completely impartial and give me some sound advice," said Howard. "That's the way it turned out, Mr. Macklin made me see the light. He said that I was new to the paper business and that there was a lot to learn about it, that it would take some time.

"My best future is in baseball."

Warriors Return To Practice

The San Francisco Warriors return to the practice court today after winning the National Basketball Assn's. Western Division title last week.

Since they took the title, the Warriors have been resting while St. Louis and Los Angeles battle for the right to take on San Francisco.

The Hawks now lead 2-0 and can shut out Los Angeles in the best-of-five series with a win tomorrow.

Meanwhile the Warriors said that the exact dates and location of their playoff were a bit doubtful because of various conflicts in schedule.

If the Hawks-Lakers series does not go five games, the Warriors will play the first two games in the Cow Palace March 31 and April 3. If the Hawks and Lakers go the limit, the March 31 date is in doubt.

Guard Al Attles pulled a thigh muscle in the final Warrior game of the campaign, but is expected to be ready for the playoffs. Guard Gary Phillips, out for almost a month with torn foot tendons, will test his footwork in this week's practice. Odds are he will perform in the playoffs, but he may not be at top speed.

Seals Start Playoff Set In Portland

PORTLAND, Ore. (AP) — The Portland Buckaroos and San Francisco Seals begin a best-of-seven Western Hockey League series at Portland tonight in the semifinals of the Lester Patrick Cup Playoffs.

Over the regular season, San Francisco had the edge in games with Portland, winning seven, losing six and tying one.

Tonight's game between Portland and San Francisco will be followed by another Thursday night at Portland.

The two clubs then travel to San Francisco for three games, to be played March 28, March 30 and April 1.

The final two games, if necessary, will be at Portland April 3 and 4.

In last year's semifinal playoff between the two teams, San Francisco won the series in the seventh game with a 3-1 victory.

Brutus Hamilton Predicts Yank Olympic Victory

SAN FRANCISCO (AP)—Two former Olympic coaches disagree on the United States track and field outlook for the 1964 games in Tokyo.

A man who'll help with this year's squad thinks each of the two might have a point.

Brutus Hamilton of California, head coach for the men in the 1952 games, told a track and field luncheon yesterday:

"I'm not too worried about the Russians beating the United States' men's team. I don't see any great improvement in the Russian situation.

"I thought they would have a great number of youngsters coming along, but I can't see any Russians catching up."

But Winter of San Jose State, an assistant U.S. track and field coach in 1960, declared:

"I don't share his complacency. There is too much apathy in the United States between Olympic Games.

"In lists of the top 10 in each event you see more and more foreigners."

Winter said more leadership is needed in athletics and suggested that leaders of business should be asked to help.

Payton Jordan of Stanford, who will be an assistant coach for this year's Olympic team, agreed with Hamilton that Russia hasn't shown much new track and field strength.

Houston Colt In Hospital After Tumor Operation

HOUSTON (AP) — Houston pitcher Jim Umbricht is back in the hospital, a year after having a malignant tumor removed.

It was learned yesterday he has been hospitalized since March 16. An official of the National League club said there was an agreement the Colts, the doctors and the family would say nothing about his condition.

Umbricht, 33, underwent a six-hour operation on March 7, 1963. He was in uniform opening day of the season and had a 4-3 record while pitching 76 innings in 35 appearances as a relief pitcher.

New Basketball Rules Caused Scoring Marks

CHICAGO (AP)—The new rule of stopping the clock on all violations led to record-shattering scoring and shooting on the national basketball scene this season.

It all come about mainly because the new rule increased playing time of games by about 5.5 per cent.

A research committee report of the National Assn. of Basketball Coaches shows that four records of the modern era, since 1948, were established.

Based on averages and percentage for both teams in each game, the new marks include:

Percentage of field goals made—.426, the highest in the history of the game; number of field goals record—57.3; percentage of field goals and free throws made—.495, and points scored—148.8.

In every major statistical category, except one, there were increases over the 1962-63 season. The exception was in percentage of free throws made. It was .680 this season compared to .682 last year.

It seems to me . . .

Note to Editor: Now, I know how it feels to be a columnist—missed Monday's deadline. Lou

Daddy, "Iacocca's" a Fun Name!

As you know, most of this stuff I write passes through the critical gauntlet of a couple of chicks who have long ago stopped being fearful of, or awed by, me. And, if some of it left you less than entranced when you read it here in this space, it was not because these two critics had lost something of their perceptiveness, but, rather, because I was stubborn and insisted it be printed as written. These two critics, and "chicks" they are, are of course, Myrl and Marilyn.

When she read my last offering, a feat in itself, in my scrawl (I think faster than I write, with rather chaotic results, sometimes), Marilyn piped up with the statement that heads today's column. I'm not sure Mr. Iacocca would appreciate the remark, but I did detect a twinkle or two in his eye on past meeting with the gentleman, so I have a hunch he'll at least tolerate the enthusiasm of my adolescent. (Now, she'll be put out with me, 'cause she insists she's a full-grown young lady!)

In any case, Mr. Iacocca, since assuming the General Managership of the Ford Division, has lit quite a few fires here and there. I'm mighty afraid some of the old fogeys in our business have already felt the heat in their lower extremities. I, for one, am thoroughly enjoying the spectacle, and it couldn't have happened to a more deserving group. Any dealer, regardless of make of car he might handle, who persists in ignoring the tremendous and obvious importance of customer relations, and, who, instead, prefers to harken back to the automotive dark ages of pushing customers around, will, inevitably be consumed in the fire of righteous customer indignation. Need some more matches, Mr. Iacocca?

Another rather refreshing insight to this rather remarkable man is his seemingly rather naive notion that value—solid value—should be built into the Fords, if we are to expect people to buy them once—and, then, buy them again. Even, if building this value into the Ford will add to its cost at the factory level only, Mr. Iacocca still firmly preaches this doctrine. And, much more importantly for a dealer like Ames Ford, and for the ultimate buyers of Fords, he not only preaches this idea—he has seen to it that it was and is being done! How do you like that for a novel twist, you purist-type cost accountants?

Another facet of this man's personality that intrigued Doug Cowan and me was the exploding feeling of optimism he abound in. What a walking, talking contagion he is! If any dealer left that meeting with any feelings of doubt about the future of our national economy, and more specifically, about the future of the automotive industry, he may well be the square peg in a round hole, and we feel for his discomfort.

Third Place For S.R. I Norcal Swim

San Rafael High School's swim team made a fine showing in the tough Northern California Swimming and Diving Relays held this past weekend in Santa Rosa.

The Bulldogs finished third in team scoring with 25½ points, behind Palo Alto with 44 and Blackford of Santa Clara Valley with 34½. It was the highest any team from Marin, or Division III of the North Coast Section, has ever placed in any recent northern Cal meets.

San Rafael's 400-yard medley relay team (Rick Tegeler, Eric Phillips, Tom Knopf and Jim Allen) placed second; the 400-yard breaststroke relay team (Paul Ransom, Mike Walraven, George Jones and Bill Pandiani) placed third, as did the S.R. all-events relay team (Tegeler, Phillips, Knopf, Dave Strauss, Mike Menne, Denny Arms and Allen).

San Rafael's 400-yard backstroke relay team (Tim Culver, Norm Thomson, Tony Ferrandini and Mike McLennan) placed fourth, and the 400-yard freestyle medley team (Strauss, Chris Nelson, Menne and Arms) also placed fourth.

Slow Day In ABC Tourney

OAKLAND (AP) — The Easter week doldrums descended upon the American Bowling Congress Tournament yesterday.

Dom Dicicco of Upper Darby, Pa. turned in the best performance of the day, a 670 series which earned an eighth place tie in regular singles. The 28-year-old plumber shot games of 204, 213 and 253 to equal the total of Loren Teall of Kalamazoo, Mich. on Feb. 23, the second day of the tournament.

Jack Mooring and Tom Driscoll of Los Angeles took ninth place in the regular doubles with 1254. Driscoll, 37, a bearing salesman, walloped a 220-233-237—690 series.

No significant scores were rolled in the team events.

Cal, Stanford Baseballers Win

Visiting Oregon teams fell to Stanford and California in college baseball yesterday.

Stanford's Mike Connelly tossed a four-hitter as the Indians downed Oregon, 3-1. A dropped two-out fly in the first inning kept the rally alive which produced all of Stanford's runs.

California blanked Oregon State, 3-0, in a game shortened to six innings by rain. Both teams collected only two hits.

Now's Time For Trout Anglers To Prepare Gear For Coming Season

STEVENS

According to the calendar, spring is here, but according to the weather as this is being written, it's mid-winter. It is raining, the sky is generally gray with a few semi-white clouds scudding toward the east as though in a hurry to get away from these parts. The trees and bushes are swaying drunkenly in the gale force wind—even the shingles on a house across my back yard are tugging at their nails trying to get free and follow the six or eight already fallen in my garden. In short, there isn't much to remind me of spring other than a reminder that taxes are due very soon.

But, it does give me time to catch up on my preparedness for the soon-to-come opening of trout season. Also, in the absence of current fishing news, I am able to offer belated congratulations to a pair of ardent anglers who took advantage of the good weather the end of last week and again limited out with bass from 13 to 20 pounds. So I congratulate Earl Hastings and Tony Centoni for that trip and sympathize with them over the adverse conditions that prevailed over Saturday and Sunday.

BUT GETTING back to the subject of the approaching trout season: I suggest that all trout-fishing addicts follow my example and give their gear a thorough going over. Wipe off the dust from that favorite fly rod, take the point of your penknife and run it around the inside of each guide and tip-top on the rod; you may find tiny nicks in those guides that could spell disaster—nicks so small that you can't hardly see them with the naked eye but which will show up with the knife treatment. Such tiny nicks may not seem important, but it could happen that when you have that lunker trout on the end of your line, said line or leader might become frayed and weakened to the extent that it will break and it will be another story of the big one that got away.

Above all, give your leaders and line the old "jerk" test. If you have been wise, you have had that expensive tapered line off the reel and strung on pegs along the workroom wall. But whether off the reel or on it, give it the jerk test.

ON LEADERS snap the strand its entire length. With the line, pay particular attention to that portion forward—where your leader will be attached. Take the first yard at the end, and snap it between your hands. If it pings its okay; if it pungs, immediately break it off and throw it away. It the line has been on the reel since last year, you may find that the jerk test gives out with a pung for as much as three, four or more yards. Break it aff and toss it away.

Regardless of how much you pay for a line, linen, silk, or mono-filiment, all line has a tendency to "die" at its end. Look for dark spots on all mono-filiment line. If a dark, yellow or nearly black spot appears even in the middle of the line or leader, it should be discarded. (Many times a gentle snap above and below such a spot will cause the line to break.)

One last thing: Be certain that you know and use the right knots in tying mono-filament. An improper knot attaching a fly or a leader cuts the strength in half at times. To prove this, take an ordinary piece of cord—cord that you can barely break between your hands. Tie a knot in the middle and snap it. You'll get the idea in a hurry. Remember, "The knot is the weakest link between the fisherman and the fish" is a true cliche.

I SUGGEST that you sit down and write E. I. Du Pont De Nemours & Company at Wilmington 98, Delaware. Ask for a copy of their very graphic paper on the proper knots to use when tying monofiliment line. There's still time to get a copy and it may save you a lot of fish in the season to come. And that's it for this effusion. See you later.

San Luis Site Yields Prehistoric Bones

LOS BANOS (UPI)—The bones of several prehistoric animals found last week at the construction site of a segment of the San Luis Canal may help scientists determine the age of California's coastal mountains and may even help prove that the mountains are still rising.

Workmen excavating the canal about 12 miles southeast of Los Banos found bones believed to be from mammoths, camels, horses and antelopes which roamed what is now the San Joaquin Valley's west side between 10,000 and 672,000 years ago. It is the second find in the area in recent months.

The bones were found in what is known as Corcoran clay and are the first evidence of fauna to be found in the Corcoran formation, a soil formation nearly 700 feet below the surface which extends from Stockton to just north of Bakersfield across the west side of the valley.

The formation, which takes its name from the town of Corcoran where the clay is warped upward and is exposed, was thought to be much older than the age when mammoths lived.

Charles Hall, a Bureau of Reclamation geologist who is working on the huge San Luis irrigation project, estimated the age of the bones at 400,000 years—about the middle of the Pleistocene era. They include half a skull of an imperial mammoth, mammoth tusk fragments, mammoth teeth and bones from prehistoric horses, camels and antelopes.

The bones were in a poor state of preservation and had to be removed by making plaster casts around them. Two paleontologists from the University of California at Berkeley were sent to aid in the excavation. They remained through the weekend to search for more bones.

The bones were taken to the university for paleontological studies and dating. It is generally known when such animals lived but dating methods can nearly pinpoint the exact time. When the age of the bones is determined, it can be used to date the clay formation.

Since the Corcoran clay has been warped upward in the coastal hills, it is known that the clay was laid down before the mountains lifted up.

"In other words, the mountain uplift is younger than the uplift of the Corcoran," Hall said. "If we know the age of the clay, then we know that the mountains had to come up since then."

Geologists, knowing the age of the Corcoran, can determine how long it took to form the nearly 700 feet of soil layers over it. This information can be correlated with other information known now and learned in the future to determine the age of the mountains.

"It might indicate the uplifting of the coast mountains was more recent than is thought," Hall said. "But what we're going to prove in the long run, I think, is that the mountains are going up right now—that they have been going up since the mammoths roamed."

De Senan Stock Case Arraignment Delayed

Arraignment of Bernard de Senan, formerly of Kentfield, on five counts of grand theft and one count of selling stock without a permit, was postponed to March 30 yesterday by Judge Harry Neubarth in San Francisco Superior Court.

DeSenan, whose attorney was unable to appear at yesterday's scheduled hearing, was arrested in Los Angeles March 13. He was indicted on charges of swindling a San Francisco widow of $50,000 and four businessmen of $10,500.

Novato To Consider Contested City Seal

Whether Novato will have a city seal will be decided tonight when the council meets at 8 o'clock in the Community House.

When an ordinance designating the seal was introduced at the council meeting two weeks ago. Councilman Lucile Cannon abstained from voting. She has since circulated petitions and is heading a movement to attempt to stop final passage of the ordinance tonight. She objects to the design of the seal.

The council street lighting committee will make its report on spring requests for street lights.

The council will consider the uniform animal control ordinance requested by the Marin County Board of Supervisors.

Other items to be considered include a request from the parks and recreation commission that a representative of the Assn. of Bay Area Governments meet with the council and commissions, a feasibility report on the Loma Verde annexation, and acceptance of the Center Road project as completed.

CREPE PAPER and a starch solution can be manipulated much as papier-mache is used to mold the basic egg shapes. Three layers of paper are used on each egg.

The Bunnies Think Big

If the Easter bunny can produce eggs—and even a 4-year-old knows he can — then he can produce them in any size and color imaginable.

He can bring gaily decorated, giant size eggs to an Easter party. They can hang in clusters over the bridge tables used for an Easter luncheon. They can twist as mobiles above the dance floor at a teen-age party. They can fill a floor basket bigger than the guests themselves at a children's party.

THESE GIANT eggs are made of oval balloons, crepe paper, starch solution and whatever trimming the maker's fancy chooses.

If instant laundry starch is used, mix equal parts of starch and water. One cup of each will make four to six eggs. If liquid starch is used, work with an undiluted solution.

Although the basic egg shapes can be made quickly, they should be prepared in advance. They must be stiff and dry before they are decorated, and the drying process can take a few days.

To make the basic egg shape, blow up an oval balloon to desired size and knot end. With measuring tape or string, measure from knot to other end. Then measure around widest part of balloon. Cut three sheets of crepe paper to these dimensions, making sure the paper is cut so the stretchiness of the paper goes around the balloon, not end to end.

PUT STARCH solution into tray or roasting pan and wet balloon with solution. Wrap wet balloon with first sheet of paper, smoothing the paper from the middle to the ends. Pat on extra solution as needed to make the paper stick. Pleat or gather excess paper at ends to conform to balloon shape, leaving knot uncovered.

Repeat with other sheets of paper, using additional starch. Work gently to avoid tearing.

BALANCE BALLOON, knot end down, in cup or jar to dry. While drying, rotate balloon occasionally to avoid ring from cup.

Decorate eggs shapes with ribbons, lace, flowers, braid, sequins, stickers, colored paper, yarn, whatever your imagination suggests. Decorations can be stuck to the shape with glue.

CREPE PAPER offers a variety of bright or pastel colors for these eggs. To make eggs in even paler pastels, the same process can be used, substituting layers of colored facial tissues in place of crepe paper. If balloons are large, several sheets of tissue will be needed for each layer. Overlap the sheets.

IF EGGS are to be hung, tie ribbon, string or fine wire to the center of a short stick. A pencil, clothespin or picnic spoon can be used for this purpose. If ends are sharp, wrap with tape to protect shell. Insert stick in top hole and twist crosswise. Pull up and it will lift egg.

TO HANG eggs in clusters above bridge tables, use ribbons. Cut ribbons in varying lengths and tape or tack to ceiling. Anchoring device can be hidden by a ribbon bow.

To make egg mobiles, hang eggs on thread or fine wire. Use wire from coat hangers, cut in varying lengths to make cross bars for mobiles. Work from the bottom of the mobile to the top; balancing is easier this way.

TO MAKE a large, round floor basket for eggs, use two hula hoops and enough dowels one foot long so that they can be placed around the hoops at about eight inch intervals. Using one hoop as one base of the basket, wire or tape the dowels around the rim to form the upright supports of the basket. Anchor the other hoop to the tops of the dowels to form the upper rim of the basket.

Using strips of crepe paper three or four inches wide, form the side of the basket by weaving each strip through the dowels—in front of one, behind the next. Alternate the over and under pattern for the next row.

A STRIP OF cardboard, taped to coat hanger wire for support, can be curved to form a handle for the basket. Wrap with crepe paper strips.

Colored tissue paper, cut into half inch strips before the package is unfolded, makes "grass" of any desired color for the basket. Fill with the giant eggs.

BRILLIANTLY BEDECKED with ribbons, flowers, sequins and the like, these overgrown Easter eggs are decorations and treasured favors for Easter parties. Crepe paper provides the basic forms and colors of these decorations, built over oval balloons. Trimming is limited only by the imagination of the creator. Note the center decoration, an egg from a balloon which becomes a balloon again with decoration. Basket beneath the balloon is a berry container.

Vandalism May Be Hitched To Lack Of Academic Standing

By VIVIAN BROWN
AP Newsfeatures

Vandalism practiced by some young people may well be hitched to lack of academic standing and the large number of dropouts in high school and colleges, says a leading counseling psychologist, Dr. Randall B. Hamrick of Bridgeport Conn.

More than one-third of young people in the 5th grade will never finish high school, he points out, and there are 1,900,000 young people now out of school and out of work in the 17 to 22 age group.

"IT IS DIFFICULT to generalize, but fanatical groupism often results from a feeling of insecurity, such as the lack of academic standing, and the sudden realization that things are going to be pretty bleak from here on out," he explains, in commenting on a recent fracas on Long Island. There, more than 100 boys, aged 18 to 23 and invited guests at a society debut, went on a youthful spree, wrecking a posh home at the climax of the party.

"If breaking furniture gives a fellow a sense of adequacy in his group, I think he'll do it," says Dr. Hamrick.

These boys are not a stupid or poor group, he goes on, "but may be in a rough spot in terms of bringing recognition to themselves, something all young people in this age group feel the need to do. During the period, 14 to 22, the all-important thing, emotionally, is to be accepted and approved by your group."

IF A YOUNG person is getting recognition academically it is one thing, he says, but if not, he may turn to some big-deal groupism — beatnik or whatever. Dependence on group operation is more significant than in the past, he points out, especially when during the years, from 14 to 18, boys are coddled, drive expensive cars and are a big deal socially, never sensing where they will be in five years.

"In this group, we have been the most conscientious and least effective parents in one generation. We wanted to be sure Johnny had everything. We have kept him immature in terms of everything, except in terms of social adequacy to group patterns," he says. "We start taking dancing lessons at 12 years of age."

THAT'S WHY YOUNG people feel they are not with it, unless they are engaged when they get out of high school, he says. It's the thing to do. They are sophisticated in the social patterns of their group, but not in facing mature realities, he says.

"We have brought to maturity an indulged group of young people but poorly prepared perhaps to face the tough challenges as far as college admissions and the labor market is concerned. Confidence does not go along with capacity, it goes along with performance. These people are now sensing the pressures of the times in relation to their own age group," he explains.

Dr. Hamrick has been counseling young people in the 14 to 25 age bracket at his Eastern Placement Services for 20 years.

A TRIBUTE TO CATHOLIC SOCIAL SERVICE

For 24 years, troubled families of all faiths in Marin, have received help from this agency, which concentrates its skills to reduce human problems that divide and destroy families.

Programs directed by a small staff, highly trained in psychiatric social work, offer treatment for strained marriages in the form of increased understanding by family members of themselves, their problems, and each other, and pre-marriage counselling for young adults. Volunteers provide motor corps service for sick and handicapped.

The agency, about to move to larger quarters near Northgate Shopping Center, in financed by United Crusade and some 600 Social Service Auxiliary members.

It hardly needs saying that strengthened families return social and financial dividends to the community ... we'll mention it anyway.

'Scientist And Citizen' Topic For AAUW Branch

"Scientist and the Citizen" is the topic to be discussed by Dr. Kenneth Stocking at the monthly general meeting on March 31 of the Mill Valley Branch, American Assn. of University Women.

The meeting will be held at 8 p.m. in the Mill Valley Community Church parish hall.

Planned by Mrs. Charles A. Murphy, second vice president and program chairman, the program is related to a specific study area designated by national AAUW headquarters: "Bridging the Gap Between Science and the Layman."

Dr. Stocking earned his A.B. and Master's degrees from the University of the Pacific in Stockton and his Ph. D. degree from the University of California at Berkeley. At present he is professor of biology and botany at Sonoma State College.

He lives in Santa Rosa, where his wife is an active member of the Santa Rosa Branch, AAUW.

MINK STOLES IN VOGUE BY NECESSITY?

NEW YORK (AP)—A great many ladies of fashion—high, medium or low—are going to have to toss their mink stoles across their bosom this spring, because there will be nothing much else covering them.

It's a nude season — even shoes are baring more than usual—and it is showing up particularly in the neckline, which is plunging lower and lower.

What is most startling about it is that the Paris-inspired fashion also is plunging lower in the fashion world—right down to the moderate-priced ready-to-wear level.

Club Solicits Plants For Homes

Mrs. Gerhard Becker, community service chairman for Mill Valley's Outdoor Art Club, has requested members and their friends to bring small potted plants for residents of the homes sponsored by the club.

The plants will be given as Easter and Mother's Day gifts to the 60 elderly people in the homes. Paper back books are also being solicited.

"The gifts given by the Outdoor Art Club at Christmas time," says Mrs. Becker, "were so deeply appreciated that I am sure members will wish to remember residents at Easter time."

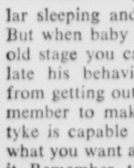
Bringing Up Baby®

HINTS COLLECTED BY MRS. DAN GERBER, MOTHER OF 5



When baby is young about the only discipline you can impose is to establish regular sleeping and eating patterns. But when baby reaches the year-old stage you can begin to regulate his behavior to keep him from getting out of hand. But remember to make sure that your tyke is capable of understanding what you want and why you want it. Remember, too, that good behavior is best taught by example. A toddler learns faster by imitation than by rules he doesn't understand.

Dinner delights for hungry sprites. Gerber Junior High Meat Dinners offer something extra-special in the way of flavor-appeal. First, they have 3 times as much savory, succulent meat as regular vegetable-meat combinations. Second, selected vegetables and sprightly seasoning are deftly added for unusual flavor interest. Good sources of protein and vitamin-A value, these "casserole" dishes provide hearty nourishment in five wonderful ways.

Table talk. Toddler table manners should not be stressed until your child is reasonably skillful at handling his spoon. It's hard enough to make a spoon behave without the burden of learning manners at the same time.

Hygiene hint. If you make a special point of washing your toddler's hands before every meal, he'll come to accept this routine naturally. A small towel that he can call his very own adds a sense of pride to the ritual.

Dept. of utter bliss. Gerber Strained and Junior Fruits are an open invitation to smiles and lip-smacking. Easy to understand why, too. Gerber Fruits are famous for colors that literally sing and flavors as close to Mother Nature's sun-kissed best as you can get them. That's because they're flash-cooked in seconds to preserve true colors and flavors. Flash-cooking also helps protect the precious vitamins that contribute so much to baby's well-being. Food, Home Fair Will Emphasize Consumer Service

A Food and Home Fair, to be held in Washington, D.C., April 14-30, will emphasize the multitude of consumer services provided by the United States Dept. of Agriculture.

"When shopping for food, clothing and homes," Secretary of Agriculture Orville L. Freeman said, "American consumers are confronted with a multiplicity of products, labels and claims. To buy intelligently, they must be familiar with a large volume of information about the wide variety of products available. Through its research and action programs authorized by the Congress, USDA has much of this information readily available to American buyers. In many cases, consumers also have USDA safeguards of quality so they can buy with assurance.

The fair will present exhibits dramatizing modern food products from USDA; the latest in food and clothing research; modern cotton and woolen fabrics and their use; an energy-saving kitchen and new flowers and garden plants. It also will show consumers how to benefit from food grades and inspection; how to find recreation in rural, wilderness and forest areas; how to use pesticides wisely; how to budget, buy on credit and otherwise manage the household.

"We invite consumers and those who work with consumers to come to the Food and Home Fair and see how the USDA serves them.

GOOD MUSCLE TONES

Do You Feel Like Tackling The Outdoors?

With spring just around the corner, can backaches be far behind? At least for those of us who have led an inactive winter.

If this includes you, then don't try to plunge into a rush of physical activity at the first chirp of the robin. Unused muscles will cramp or knot, causing pain and stiffness, if you approach gardening, tennis, golf and other activities without proper physical preparation. The following 10-point program brings about good muscle tone.

Follow these exercises in order since each is designed for specific muscles, spending at first only about a minute on each. Increase this as your muscles become more flexible.

1. TO LOOSEN UP and relax your entire body, stand on tiptoe and stretch your body very tall. Push upward, reaching for the ceiling. Bend forward from the hips. Touch the floor with your fingertips. Keep your back straight and head up. Return to upright position and repeat.

2. HIPS AND THIGHS — Kneel on the floor with buttocks resting on heels. Keep back straight and head erect. With palms resting on thighs, slowly raise up from the knees. Make thighs do all the lifting. Raise arms at sides to shoulder height. Holding this position, pull in stomach muscles. Return to squat position. The more slowly you do this exercise, the more pull on muscles.

3. BACK AND NECK—Stand erect, shoulders relaxed, arms at sides, feet slightly apart. Pull in stomach muscles, tucking buttocks under. Move left leg back keeping toes touching floor. Raise arms overhead. Let your head drop back between your arms. Stretch and reach backwards with arms. Bend back from the waist in rocking motion. Return to standing position. Repeat with right leg.

4. Back and waist—Stand, as in exercise No. 3. Raise arms overhead, palms up, fingers locked. Stretch body upward, keeping feet flat on floor. Bend to the right from the waist until you feel the pull. Rock in this position three times. Return to erect position, arms at sides. Repeat exercise to the left.

5. STOMACH — Stretch out on the floor, keeping back flat, with arms down at sides. Point toes and keep knees together. Bring knees up to chest. Place hands on knees and press down, forcing legs against body. Return arms to floor at sides. Lift legs straight up in the air. Stretch toes to ceiling. Keep back flat to floor. Lower knees to chest and repeat.

6. Upper leg—Sit on floor, back straight, shoulders relaxed. Spread legs as wide apart as possible, knees flat and toes pointed. Draw left foot in to touch right thigh, pressing left knee to floor with hand. Do not shift weight. Return left leg to position and repeat with right.

7. Upper arms and shoulders — Take an 'all fours' position on the floor, keeping back straight and elbows stiff, palms down, with fingers facing each other. Keep head up. Lower body to floor by bending at elbows until forearms touch floor. Let your body relax, face resting on forearms. Raise body to 'all fours' position and repeat.

8. HIPS AND THIGHS—Sit on floor, back straight, with arms curved back behind body. Place palms flat on floor fingers turned inward. Keeping toes pointed, keeping back straight. Return knees to chest. Repeat exercise. Use pushing motion each time you raise legs.

9. UPPER AND LOWER leg —Recline on left hip on floor. Support body with outstretched left arm and right arm in slightly forward position on floor. Keep palms flat. Stretch legs, toes pointed. Raise left leg upward keeping knee straight. Practice and time will increase height to which you can raise leg. Roll over and repeat with right leg.

10. Over-all muscle tone — Kneel on floor, buttocks resting on heels, arms down at sides. Bend forward from hips until palms and head touch floor. Raise body upward with sweeping motion, arms overhead. Stretch towards ceiling. Lower arms to sides and let hips rest on heels. Repeat exercise.

We'll Stand In Opposition To Suppression Of Pay TV

It is easy to conjure up economic reasons for or against Pay TV, depending on which side you wish to support.

If you are against Pay TV, it is easy to become quite righteously indignant about the supposed threat it poses for movie theaters and their employees. Pay TV in the home could darken the lights of movie theaters everywhere, bankrupting their taxpaying owners and leaving their employees jobless, you could say. Even movie advertising in newspapers would disappear, to the economic detriment of newspapers, you could also say.

If you are for Pay TV, you could say it will provide good entertainment, free of objectionable commercials, right in the home at far less cost than taking the family to the movies, for instance. Or you could say, it would enable the working man to see the next world heavyweight championship fight (if you could call it a fight and if you could stomach another one) right in your home for less than the high price charged for seats at the closed circuit TV showing at a movie theater.

As we say, it is easy to conjure up economic arguments for or against Pay TV.

But if you ask us, all these miss the point.

Actually, two points have, in our opinion, been too widely ignored.

First, the campaign against Pay TV is just one more effort by one segment of business (motion picture houses and commercial TV) to have potential competition eliminated by law.

This certainly is out of consonance with the American spirit of "better mousetrap" enterprise. As San Rafael City Councilman Charles Aby indicated, we are lucky this approach wasn't used 40 years ago or we never would have had motion pictures; the vaudeville industry would have got a law passed against movies.

Our second concern, seemingly ignored in discussions to date, is the spectre of suppression of a means of communication.

Our system of self-government thrives on the free flow of information among citizens and between citizens and government.

We don't know what, if any, plans the Pay TV people have to present informational and/or educational programs.

But we would not want to see them prohibited from presenting such programs, either in connection with election campaigns or otherwise.

The founding fathers of our republic provided for free speech, and freedom of the press so that ideas, comments and criticisms might be freely interchanged, for the ultimate benefit of all.

Had they foreseen radio, TV and even Pay TV, we are sure they would have specified that those channels be kept open, too.

They should be kept open.

We suspect that Pay TV, when it comes, will be one more thing competing for newspaper readers' time.

But we would rather some way meet (and hopefully beat) the competition than run to our lawmakers to suppress it.

Count us among the supporters of Pay TV and among opponents of the present campaign to suppress it.

LATEST PATCH ON THE CRAZY QUILT

Salinger, Witty Aide To President Who Ate Papers, Takes Long Hike

WASHINGTON (AP) — "My shape is not good; I may be plucky, but I'm not stupid." So said Pierre Salinger, a roundish type. It could have been his epitaph.

But it was just his way of declining to lead newsmen on a 50-mile hike in 1963 when President John F. Kennedy was pushing a physical fitness program.

Atty. Gen. Robert F. Kennedy had already done the 50 to show how fit the Kennedy administration was.

Therefore, Salinger concluded: "A further demonstration on my part would be superfluous and possibly disastrous."

LAST WEEK he took what may be the longest walk of his life.

He resigned as President Lyndon B. Johnson's press secretary to try to run for the Senate from California.

At the same time, Dean Rusk, secretary of state, was reported planning to quit Johnson's administration after next November's elections.

Rusk not only denied he would quit next November but said he had no plans to quit.

Two more different men than the decorous Dean and the pixie Pierre would be hard to find.

RUSK'S THREE years as secretary of state have been fantastic in the sense he has been almost totally free of criticism.

This is almost unbelievable for anyone who saw the batting his two predecessors got: Dean Acheson under President Harry S. Truman and John Foster Dulles under President Dwight D. Eisenhower.

The dark-haired, informal, cigar-chomping, witty, piano-playing Salinger got along delightfully with the press.

Rusk, who seems to consider himself strictly a foreign affairs technician and not a public opinion molder, stays in the background.

This worked fine with Kennedy and Johnson, since they made sure that they, and not the secretary of state, made the big pronouncements in foreign affairs.

It was different in the Truman-Acheson and Eisenhower-Dulles days. The secretaries talked up, sometimes too much, and got splattered for it.

HOW LONG Rusk stays with Johnson will probably depend on how much Johnson listens to his modest secretary.

Johnson has already said a few things about foreign relations which must have made the studious, careful Rusk wince.

While the merry, breezy Salinger was the White House minister of information, he also presided over some misinformation on small things.

As Kennedy's press secretary, he succeeded a formidable man: the tense, driving James Hagerty, who did amazingly at making his boss, President Eisenhower, look good.

SALINGER DID extremely well, but in a far more relaxed way. You'll have a tough time remembering once when Kennedy goofed in press relations.

But Salinger had more going for him than Hagerty.

Eisenhower, no intellectual, admitted once he was desultory in reading newspapers. Kennedy ate them.

Eisenhower was courteous with newsmen, but it was a distant courtesy. Kennedy embraced them. Newsmen waiting to see him looked like a headline.

Bouquets For Financial Page

Editor, Independent-Journal:

Yesterday's (Mar. 10) financial page of your newspaper marks a great step forward in giving your subscribers up-to-the-minute stock market news. As the county grows with the rest of the country, we are fast becoming intensely aware of all business areas.

The combination of the stock market quotations with local business news clearly indicates a desire on the part of the editors to give its readers a complete business picture, both local and national.

Bay Crossing Needed For Rapid Transit

Editor, Independent-Journal:

Some years ago, when rapid transit on our present bridge was considered, I believe, an I-J editorial said no bridge could take a train's rolling load at more than about 30 mph. And that such bridge speeds would foul up the combination of high speed and short intervals, the Bay Area Rapid Transit system needed in rush hours.

If that is correct, rapid transit for Marin, and a second bridge are separate projects which too many people confusingly combine. Each rush hour on 101 shows we need them both. It is time to stop talk, and start building both, separately.

You have consistently worked for a second bridge. Keep it up. At the same time you will be of service if you start pounding the table for a rapid transit tube to the city, even if engineers have to detour it under the Potato Patch, or Southampton Shoal, to find practicable depths.

Jr. College Best Education Bargain

Editor, Independent-Journal:

The Independent-Journal is to be commended for the story carried under the headline, "Junior Colleges Face Cloudy Financial Future" (A. P., Austin Scott), Feb. 19 edition. It is well that you devote dominant space to the discussion of an issue as important as the financing of our junior colleges.

We do not argue with Mr. Scott's case, namely, the call for increased state support of California's junior colleges, and thus improved programs and relief for the local property taxpayer. State aid for junior colleges today amounts to 25 per cent of the cost of operation. The local property taxpayer carries almost all the rest of the expenses. State aid for College of Marin is even less (18 per cent). Our board is on record favoring 45 per cent state support as recommended by the California Master Plan for Higher Education.

We do, however, take issue with a serious error made by Mr. Scott when he says, "Largely because of the very diversified programs, it costs more to educate a junior college student than any other kind." The facts show just the reverse. The junior colleges have long been known as the greatest educational bargain for the state as well as student and parents, because they do not require expensive facilities for research and because students can live at home while they study. The Griffenhagen-Kroeger, Inc., Report, "California's Ability to Support Higher Education," submitted to the Coordinating Council for Higher Education in Feb., 1963, shows the following cost per student figures for freshman and sophomore education: junior colleges $540, state colleges $725, and University of California $935. State aid paid only $135 of the $540 per junior college student cost but paid most of the costs at the other levels.

Thank you for shedding more light on the critical problem of state-local financing of our public junior colleges.

Stray Dog May Have Caused Auto Death

Editor, Independent-Journal:

A tragedy has occurred in the Woodacre branch of our family. A fine boy, 16 years of age, was instantly killed when the car he was driving careened over the embankment off Redwood Drive, as he was going down from Buckeye Tract on his way to school last Tuesday morning. This boy was not the reckless type. He was a serious student and a careful driver.

A thought which comes to the mind of everyone familiar with this area is that a dog dashing into the road may very well have been the cause of the accident. We who drive up there frequently to visit our relatives and friends on the hill have long felt incensed about these attacking beasts besetting every passing car.

Ironically, the grandmother in the grief-stricken family had sent in her letter to the I.J. protesting the dog situation a few days before the accident, and it appeared in your paper last night (Mar. 18) the day after the accident.

We cannot prove that the loss of this precious life was due to the dog menace, nor would it console the grieving family to do so. The only thing we can do is to take measures to avoid the possibility of such a tragic occurrence in the future.

The Humane Society must be summoned to pick up all dogs whose owners are not rigidly confining them to their premises, and the citizens of Marin must support this body, instituted for the public welfare, in carrying out this urgent duty.

THREE MINUTES A DAY

By JAMES KELLER

THOUSANDS HELPED BY ONE WOMAN

One woman doctor gave up a successful obstetrics practice to devote herself to 4,000 migrant workers in Texas.

The 62-year-old physician studied Spanish to equip herself for her new work and then began providing sorely needed help for mothers and young children.

Thanks largely to her efforts and those of local citizens, a clinic has been built. Other doctors, and drug companies as well, have contributed medicines and interested persons have given clothing.

"Gradually people are beginning to think of the migrant worker as a human being," she said. "They are beginning to realize that he can be educated morally, economically and culturally.

"Our program is a long-term one, full of faith, hope and charity, meaning love of our neighbor, not the dole."

A Christlike example is often the best means of motivating others to do similar things. God expects you to assist by word and action those who reasonably look to you for help.

"I was a stranger and you took Me in; naked and you covered Me; sick and you visited Me." (Matthew 25:35-36)

Open my eyes, O Holy Spirit, to the needs of those around me and spur me to take effective steps on their behalf.

AFFAIRS OF STATE

Violation Charged In Soliciting For Show To Back Rumford Act

By HENRY C. MacARTHUR

SACRAMENTO (CNS) — What appears to be a flagrant violation of state law in solicitations from state employees, on state time and in the use of state equipment, for political purposes, was uncovered in the State Department of Employment, which is headed by Albert B. Tieburg, appointee of Gov. Edmund G. Brown.

The California government code prohibits solicitation of state employees "for any political purpose whatever."

However, employees of the department were served with two sheets of paper, one signed by 21 persons in the department, among whom were supervisors of high rank, "inviting" employees to contribute $25 to $35 to sponsor a show to be staged in Sacramento to support the Rumford Act.

INCLUDED in the signers were Phil Proto, chief of the division of benefit payments and technical service; Jack D. Clevenger, principal referee, and William Redmond, acting chief of the employment service technical services.

Distribution of the papers was made "with the permission and personal support of Albert B. Tieburg," according to the message sent to all of the employees over whom he has supervision.

THE LEAFLET instructed those who received it that if they wished to be a sponsor or purchase tickets to the Rumford Bill show, they should contact Bill Good, on extension 5-5117, a state local, in Room 5040 of the Department of Employment Building. Checks, the instructions read, should be made payable to the "Sacramento Freedom Fund."

THE CIRCULAR advertising the show to raise funds to maintain the Rumford Act, which was distributed along with the leaflet advising of the organization of "Employment Security Employees for Fair Housing," says that "Governor Brown has promised to be at our Sacramento reception," and promises that "all proceeds will be used to fight the initiative through registration drives, get-out-the-vote campaigns, education programs, advertising and other projects."

OCCASIONALLY a writer comes along who can sit down at a typewriter and bang out a column or story at will. Most writers, however, can think of more ways to delay getting down to their work than even a temporary kitchen maid. Lee Rogow cites the case of one Hollywood scenario scripter who simply had to have a job completed by the following morning. His understanding wife disconnected the phone, inserted a fresh page in his typewriter, grabbed both kids by the hand, and left him in sole possession of the premises. They rode to the end of the bus line and back, saw a double feature at the neighborhood movie, and came home at the tag end of the day to see how far daddy had gotten. He hadn't done too badly. As they walked through the door, he was just polishing the last piece of their 80 piece sterling silver dinner set.

THE ALLEN-SCOTT REPORT

U. S. Seeks Location Of 137 Defectors

By ROBERT S. ALLEN and PAUL SCOTT

WASHINGTON—The Johnson administration is launching one of the most intensive world-wide "man-hunts" in years.

U. S. authorities are seeking to locate all U. S. citizens who have defected to Russia or satellite countries since World War II.

This secret information is being gathered on 137 U. S. defectors, including a number of American women, by the Defense Department, State Department, Justice Department and the Central Intelligence Agency.

TRIGGERED BY the Warren Commission's probe of the assassination of the late President John F. Kennedy, this intelligence inquiry is to determine how many defectors have been permitted to return to the U. S.

Since more than half are military deserters or former U. S. government employees, the agencies are checking to see how many of the "turncoats" might be potential Lee Harvey Oswalds.

Oswald, an admitted Marxist, defected to the Soviet Union in 1959 and lived there 2½ years, then was allowed to return to the U. S. in 1962.

The surveillance list of defectors is expected to grow to more than 200.

IT CARRIES the names of three former employees of the super-secret National Security Agency.

The NSA defector trio — Bernon F. Mitchell, William H. Martin and Victor Hamilton—are reported to be in the Soviet Union, where they have been assigned to breaking U. S. codes.

Others on the "most wanted" list are Capt. Alfred Svenson, M/Sgt. Willard E. Valentini, Robert E. Webster, Liberto Ricciardelli, Marilyn Dorothea Murret, Betty Jane Myers and Shirley Dubinsky.

Communist East Germany is using the two U. S. Army defectors — Captain Svenson and Master Sergeant Valentini—as starring attractions for a new wave of violent anti-American propaganda.

THE FEDERAL Communications Commission is seeking sweeping authority from Congress to dictate how to make television sets, radios and other electrical or electronic devices.

The agency has sent the Senate commerce committee a request for legislation empowering its commissioners to "prescribe regulations for the manufacture, import, sale, shipment or use of devices which cause harmful interference to radio reception."

FCC commissioners warned that radiation from electronic devices is creating "spectrum pollution" and "radiation smog" that disrupts flight control and could pose a threat to life.

I-J REPORTER'S NOTEBOOK

By THERON NEWELL

May All Novato Merchants Plant Posies As One Did At Grant-Machin

GEORGE WARDEN, owner of Warden's Liquors at Grant and Machin Avenues, Novato, was the first merchant this year to heed the signs of spring and plant the area 'round the tree in front of his store.

On one of the nice afternoons last week, he was out diligently working the soil and planting violas. These will make a blanket of color all during the summer.

Last year, many other merchants on Grant Avenue planted flowers around the young trees. This added color to the young trees, which were planted by the Novato Garden Club with the city council matching funds.

However, during the winter, far too many of the plots of soil around these trees have grown up into weeds. This makes an unsightly mess on the sidewalks, when they could be a thing of beauty.

HERE'S HOPING that all of the merchants along Grant Avenue follow George's lead and plant the area around the bases of the trees in front of their businesses. The trees that were planted last year now have a good start and should really start to make a showing this year.

Think of what a beautiful sight it could be if every tree on Grant Avenue had a blanket of low-growing flowers around its base. Then when the city attracts thousands of visitors during Western Weekend in June, people would go away remembering what a thing of beauty had been created along the main street.

SOMETHING LIKE this could make the city stand out, the same as the hanging baskets of flowers on the street lightpoles have done for Victoria, B. C.

People are not the only creatures affected by spring. Even though Novato is struggling to become a city, it still retains so much of its rural atmosphere. That was brought home the other day when the not-so-gentle song of a Rocky Mountain canary was heard not far from the business district.

Dogs also feel the surge of extra energy during the spring. Large packs of them are seen roaming around Novato. All during the winter, their masters have turned them loose and let them roam where they wanted.

However now, with people planting gardens and flowers, a dog or pack of dogs can ruin a newly planted area. Their masters should keep them under control.

CITY ADMINISTRATOR J. Julien Baget says the city has adopted the county ordinance which forbids dogs "to run at large." He said it is illegal for dogs to run anywhere, either in town or in the country, outside of their owners' premises.

The City of Novato has a contract with Marin County for control of animals. In turn, the county has a contract with the Marin County Humane Society to take care of this problem. It is also illegal to allow a dog to bark at night, as some are inclined to do during the warm moonlit night.

To pay for this service to control dogs, the city acts as an agent in licensing dogs. Last year, 2,500 dogs were licensed at the Novato City Hall. That is an average of almost one dog for every two families. Of this number, however, only a few are the real offenders. By far the majority of owners know how to take care of their dogs.

They really are the true dog lovers.

You're An Old Timer If You Recall Imitating Charlie Chaplin At Parties

NEW YORK (AP) — Memory is a strange miser. It hoards the oddest things, and in moments of reverie parades them before your inner eye in a seemingly haphazard fashion.

You've been through life's mill yourself, if you can look back and remember when—

You could be the life of any party by imitating Charlie Chaplin's duck-footed waddle.

Ladies were so delicate and fainted so often that every well-run household kept a bottle of smelling salts handy to revive them.

A WIFE who held a job outside the home tried to keep that fact from her relatives—as if it were a kind of disgrace.

One of the biggest thrills of boyhood was to get to wear the wool wrap-around leggings your soldier uncle brought home from World War I.

It was widely believed that business depressions were caused by sun spots and that, anyway, there wasn't much that man could do to prevent them or keep them from running their course.

EVERY SMALL town had a champion whittler and a champion spitter and a champion liar — and sometimes these distinctions were all held by the same man, in which case he was certain also to be the champion idler.

EVERY TOBACCO store had a wooden Indian at the entrance, and harness and hardware stores often put outside a statue of a white horse.

If your best girl held a spring dandelion under your chin and it reflected a yellow tint, this proved you were fond of butter—and she was fond of you.

Anyone who didn't think Edgar Guest the greatest American poet since Henry Wadsworth Longfellow was suspected of being either a radical or an intellectual, or both.

THE RICHEST man in the community lived in the house that had the widest front porch.

If you couldn't afford to pay spot cash for it, you didn't buy it.

REMEMBER WHEN?

10 YEARS AGO

Action to obtain a charter study committee in Marin County was to be discussed at a meeting called by the League of Women Voters.

Because they said higher taxes and increased enrollment would make Tomales High School inadequate, residents of West Marin discussed building a high school of their own, to be located perhaps in Olema Valley.

20 YEARS AGO

"'Escaped Convicts' Only Commandos," said a six-column headline on page 1 of the Independent. San Rafael police, deputy sheriffs, highway patrolmen and San Anselmo police had formed a "tight cordon" at Fourth and Irwin Streets on reports of "three 'convicts' lurking in the area." The three were soldiers armed with rifles and tommy guns on a practice problem from a nearby camp.

What Can Be Done To Control Smoky Fires?

Editor, Independent-Journal:

I certainly agree with your editorial saying Marin is not immune to smog.

In Homestead Valley, on Mill Valley's southern rim, a half dozen or more open rubbish, leaf and brush fires are burning every weekend, and frequently during the week, laying a pall of smoke over the whole valley.

In every community there will be a few people who have little or no sense of responsibility toward their neighbors and their neighborhood. But when neither the fire department nor the air pollution control district is interested, what can be done?

Fine Arts Building Thrills This Reader

Editor, Independent-Journal:

In regard to Mr. Robert Alexander's letter, which you printed in the March 20 issue, as a registered voter of Marin County, I am personally thrilled at the opportunity of having a complete Fine Arts building for the future students at College of Marin.

In a county such as this, which has a very high interest in the performing arts, it is wonderful to see that College of Marin not only recognizes this interest, but is expanding its Fine Arts department to include space and facilities for interested students.

Mr. Alexander's suggestion to combine the Fine Arts building with the new student union makes me wonder if he has ever been in any of the "multi-purpose" unions he mentions. Most of them are designed to function as a mass utility room but are constructed so acoustically poor that they are nothing more than echo chambers.

He fails to realize that theater is performed better in a theater, and makes no comment to the effect that the new building will provide an excellent performing arts facility for the entire county, not just the student body.

His suggestion makes me wonder if he would be happier having a complex housing of, say, a student union, a chemistry lab and a library; or a student union, a gym and a research center!

Bridge Director Asks For Public's Ideas

Editor, Independent-Journal:

I am stating briefly my present thinking on the major issues concerning the Golden Gate Bridge.

I.—SECOND CROSSING:

A.—Location, preliminary engineering and economic feasibility studies should be completed as soon as possible using Golden Gate Bridge and Highway District funds so far as is necessary, preferably as a loan to the State Toll Bridge Authority.

B. — There are serious doubts there is sufficient bonding capacity or that tolls could pay for a direct crossing from the Tiburon area to the Embarcadero in San Francisco (perhaps half a billion dollars needed), and if a second crossing is built sights may have to be lowered to a less expensive but more indirect route.

C.—Whichever government entity is first enabled to construct an acceptable second crossing should proceed at once, whether it be the Golden Gate Bridge and Highway District, the State Division of Bay Area Toll Crossings, a new authority, or a joint venture.

II.—SECOND DECK FOR LIGHT VEHICULAR TRAFFIC ON GOLDEN GATE BRIDGE:

A.—Although I am lukewarm on the idea of a second deck, unless the construction of a second crossing is started very soon there will be an intolerable twice-daily traffic jam between Marin and San Francisco. Therefore, preliminary engineering feasibility and cost studies should be made by the Golden Gate Bridge in order that the board may intelligently deliberate the advisability of constructing a second deck.

B.—New large freeway access routes to both San Francisco and Marin would have to be constructed and as a matter of fact need to be constructed right now, but certainly no second deck should be added to the bridge until there is sufficient assurance that the required freeway access routes will receive majority public acceptance and will be built.

III.—TRAFFIC CONTROL DEVICES:

A.—Despite the fact overhead traffic control devices are used in many installations throughout the world, it is not necessarily true, particularly in view of new developments, that these devices would provide maximum safety in the specific instance of the Golden Gate Bridge.

B. — Innumerable Marin-San Francisco commuters have advised me that there is no means of traffic dividing so constantly apparent and understandable as tube dividers. It appears that all of the dangers of personal injury presently existing in (1) manually changing of the tubes by bridge laborers, (2) tubes being flipped at oncoming traffic, and (3) tubes being strewn on the roadway would be eliminated through use of "pop-up" tubes imbedded in the roadway actuated by compressed air and controlled from the sergeant's office at the toll plaza.

C.—An engineer presently working on the development of these pop-up tubes has told me that in his opinion by experimentally installing pop-up tubes in the access lanes to the toll booths whatever "bugs" there are now in the device will be eliminated.

D. — Imbedded roadway lights may also be a solution and should be experimented with in the toll booth access lanes.

Since public opinion is of paramount importance to me, I solicit comments, suggestions and criticism, which may be addressed to:

Fair Housing Law Protects Owners

Editor, Independent-Journal:

So often the supporters of the "Anti Rumford" Initiative say that they don't want a law which "forces" anyone to rent or lease to anyone against their will. The implication is, that the civil rights of property owners are being abridged by the Rumford Act, and that this will be corrected by the Initiative.

Actually, most people who use this argument have NOT read the law. Section 35742 of the Fair Housing law specifically protects the right of every property owner to select buyers or renters on the basis of any criteria he desires as long as he applies the same criteria to all races and religions.

"Nothing contained in this part shall be construed to prohibit selection based upon factors other than race, color, religion, national origin, or ancestry."

Clearly, no one is "forced" to sell or rent to anyone; no one is "forced" to lower his qualifications for sale or rental—as long as he gives people of all races and religions a chance to meet his qualifications.

Well meaning people have been deceived by this smokescreen; and all voters cannot be expected to read the entire bill. It is, however, urgent that the rank and file voter understand that the passage of the "Anti Rumford Initiative" would constitutionally freeze the State of California in its efforts to lessen racial tensions and develop a true equality of opportunity, which, after all, is the major source of American strength.

Rumford Repealer Has Hidden Purpose

Editor, Independent-Journal:

We have kept hoping that your newspaper would do a responsible job on what you, following the line of the California Real Estate Assn., call "the Rumford Initiative" or "the constitutional amendment to nullify the Rumford Fair Housing Act." You used the latter term in your March 18 issue.

I believe that it is your responsibility to do some factual reporting on this matter. This proposed constitutional amendment was not initiated simply to nullify the Rumford Law, as the CREA would have the voting public believe. A proposition to repeal the Rumford Law could have been placed on the ballot by means of a referendum petition, which would have required only half the number of signatures necessary for this initiative amendment. Obviously, the CREA has a "hidden" purpose which involves more than their professed desire to let the people accept or reject the Rumford Law.

The real intention of the CREA is to strike a blow at our American representative form of government. This is true because their proposed amendment would make it unconstitutional for any legislative body in California, including our State Legislature, or any court, to ever do anything about racial or religious discrimination in the sale or rental of private housing. If this amendment passes, it will mark the beginning of the destruction of our republican type of government in California.

If the voters know the facts, those who are intelligent and conscientious will realize the full import of this destructive proposition and will oppose it, even if they have not been in favor of the Rumford Law.

I therefore call upon you to stop designating this proposition as "the amendment to nullify the Rumford Act," and instead, to point out clearly to your readers its greater threat by labeling it "the amendment to restrict representative government in California."

Hospital Directors To Speak For Selves?

Editor, Independent-Journal:

Referring to your recent editorial on the need — or lack of — for a professional publicity person for Marin General Hospital. Perhaps you'd like to write another on the needs — or lack of — for such a professional publicity person in our schools.

I am told that "they" need such agents to keep them from putting their "foot in their mouth." If this is so, then we need to look for executive directors who are big enough to speak for themselves.

Statement of Policy

Regarding Political Advertising

The Independent-Journal does not aggressively solicit or render copy writing service for political advertisements that are argumentative in content. Political advertisements are construed to be all assertions subject to public controversy, whether or not a public election is involved.

Any political advertisement that is not clearly the personal appeal of the elective candidate or candidates involved must show the name of the sponsoring group together with the name or names of one or more persons officiating for such group and their address.

Political advertisements must be submitted in complete and explicit form, ready for the printers, and clearly marked as to size and date of appearance. All political advertisements are payable in advance. Charges are figured at the regular rate.

Advertising deadlines are 4 p.m., two days preceding publication. As examples Tuesday advertisements must be in Friday at 4 p.m.; Monday advertisements must be in the preceding Friday morning. Any intervening holiday advances the deadline by a day.

If a proof is desired, advertisement must be submitted substantially in advance. Corrections, if any, must be ordered by 4 p.m., two working days preceding publication. Any changes from original copy will be charged for on basis of printing work involved.

On the last publication day before an election no political advertisement other than a simple statement of advocacy will be printed. As example: "Vote yes on proposition three," or "Elect John Jones," together with facts as to nature and time of election and, if desired, candidate's party affiliation or occupational identity.

Nearing a public election, no advertisement introducing a new controversial subject will be accepted to run later than the fourth publication day preceding the election. If any new statement or issue should be introduced on the fourth publication day preceding the election, attacking the opposing candidate or issue involved, the newspaper may, at its discretion, make allowance under this rule for the opposing side to answer.

Necessity for the newspaper's disinterested handling of political advertisements is readily apparent. These terms and conditions are adhered to in spirit of fairness to all.

The moon is approaching its full phase. The evening stars are Venus and Jupiter.

On this day in history:

In 1603, the crowns of England and Scotland were joined under James VI of Scotland who began his new reign as James I.

In 1882, Prof. Robert Koch of Berlin announced the discovery of the pathogenic germs in tuberculosis.

In 1934, the U. S. granted the Philippine Islands independence, to become effective July 4, 1946.

In 1953, Dowager Queen Mary died in London at the age of 86.

A thought for the day: Athenian orator Demosthenes once said: "To remind the man of the good turns you have done him is very much like a reproach."

TIME AND TIDE

Department of Commerce, United States Coast Geodetic Survey. Western District headquarters. Times and heights of tides at San Francisco (Golden Gate):

HOW TO PLAY

WINNING BRIDGE

By ALFRED SHEINWOLD

Improve Your Opening Lead By Listening To Bidding

Most players would get better results if they could steal a look at the other hands before making the opening lead.

If you suspect that your opponents might object to such a scrutiny, try working out their hands from the bidding.

Opening lead — ♡ 7

When this hand was played in the Eastern Regional Tournament a few years ago, South usually won eleven tricks at spades against the normal opening lead of the king of hearts.

ONE EXPERT

One expert, Harry Fishbein, let the bidding guide him to the killing opening lead.

North's redouble said: "The hand belongs to our side. Let the next bid come around to me. Since I may be able to double for penalties, don't get in my way."

South's jump to three diamonds said: "I'm not interested in a penalty double. I have unusual length in my two suits, and the jump reassures you about the soundness of my hand."

REPEATS MESSAGE

South repeated this message with his final bid of five spades. North had indicated a desire to play for penalties by doubling five clubs.

South's refusal to double or pass five hearts made it clear that he had no more than one heart at most.

Fishbein could count on geting a heart and a spade, but these two tricks would not defeat the contract. East could hold nothing of value except perhaps a heart honor.

ENOUGH GUIDE

This was enough to guide Fishbein. Instead of opening the king of hearts he led the seven. East won the first trick with the queen, much to his surprise.

East recovered from the shock in time to work out what had happened.

He returned a diamond to give Fishbein the ruff he had sought so desperately, and the ace of trumps eventually took the setting trick.

QUESTION

As dealer, you hold:
♠ A 5 4
♥ A K 4
♦ A K 6 3
♣ 10 6 5

What do you say?

Answer: The textbook bid is one no trump, but most experts would consider this hand too strong for such a bid.

Although the point count is only 18, the fact that it is all in aces and kings makes the hand too powerful for one no-trump. In an expert game open with one diamond and prepare to jump in notrump at your next turn as though you had 19 points.

RECIPES OF THE WEEK

Cool Cucumber Molds*
Dissolve 1 3-oz. package lemon-flavored gelatin in 1 cup hot water. Add 1 cup cold water, 2 tbsp. lemon juice, and ¼ tsp. salt. Chill till partially set. Meanwhile, halve cucumber and scrape out seeds; shred cucumber (you'll need 1½ cups drained shredded cucumber). Stir in shredded cucumber and ¼ cup chopped green onions. Pour into 5 individual molds. Chill until firm. This is pretty with the double green of cucumber and onion. A spunky accompaniment for Easter Ham!

Sweet Potato Casserole
In a frying pan, break apart and brown 1 pound bulk pork sausage along with ¼ cup chopped onions. Pour off the accumulated fat. Cook and mash enough sweet potatoes (yams are just as good) to measure 6 cups. Mix together the sausage and onion mixture, 2 eggs, ⅔ cup milk and the mashed potatoes. Season to taste with salt. Pour mixture into a shallow 2-quart casserole and smooth surface with a spoon. Now blend ¼ cup melted butter with ½ cup firmly packed brown sugar and ¼ cup heavy cream; boil together, stirring occasionally for 3 minutes. Pour sauce evenly over potatoes. Bake in a moderate oven (350°) for 30 to 40 minutes or until hot. Makes 8 to 10 servings.

Churchill Ending Long Commons Era

By JOSEPH GLADSTONE
Worldwide Press Service

LONDON — Day after day now British Members of Parliament see the Grand Old Man of Politics, Sir Winston Churchill, tottering amiably to his seat in the House of Commons to hunch down and take what may be, any day, his last look at a very familiar scene.

For Sir Winston is quitting the House of Commons at the General Election — and that could come at any time.

Parliament calls it "Winston's seat," but actually no British M. P. has a designated seat; it's a case of "first come, first served." However, Sir Winston, by years of squatting, has made this seat peculiarly his own. It is just three feet from the Government Bench and separated from it by a gangway.

From his vantage point, Churchill used to belabor the Baldwin and Chamberlain governments before the war. And from it, since 1955, he has cast benevolent glances at his successor prime ministers.

Now that the election is drawing nearer, he comes into the Commons as much as possible. The question hour is his favorite, and he will lean forward to catch a glimpse of Prime Minister Sir Alec Douglas-Home to see how he handles things. Or Churchill will spare a glance for a senior minister whom he himself "brought on" as a young man 10 or 12 years ago.

When he has had his fill, Sir Winston struggles to his feet. Then, with a cane to aid his 89-year-old legs, he will make his way to the huge, double doors of the chamber —a small crowd of solicitous M. P.s following him, ready to give a quick arm if necessary —and go out through the "Churchill Arch," that smoke-blackened, bomb-chipped archway over the entrance.

When the Commons was blitzed during the war, they took down these stones, labelled them and stored them. When the Commons was rebuilt, they put them back, just as they were, and Parliament called it the "Churchill Arch" as a memorial to its greatest member.

The Grand Old Man has many memories of his own as he hunches down in his Commons seat. They go back to the beginning of the century itself, for he was elected for Oldham in 1900, a thrusting young red-head of 25, straight from being a war correspondent in the South African War.

In South Africa he had been captured by the Boers, had escaped and had been hidden in a coal mine by the British manager. In the Oldham campaign he told the story, and it happened that his helper's wife was in the audience. After that, the campaign was a cinch.

In the 64 years since then, Churchill's service in Parliament has been broken only once—in 1922, when he joined the Liberals, had an emergency appendectomy and lost the campaign from a wheelchair.

But the break was only for two years and he has been an M. P. ever since. Today he is the "Father of the House," having the longest continuous service—30 unbroken years.

And what a record it is. He was a junior minister at 30, had senior ministerial rank at 33. At 36, he was first lord of the admiralty, in charge of the greatest navy in the world, switching the navy to oil and buying a controlling interest in the Anglo-Persian oil company to insure supplies.

For instance, the time he walked into the Commons prepared for an all-night sitting in a grey suit, soft pink shirt and soft double collar, and was hilariously accused of having come in his pajamas.

He will remember the day that Lady Nancy Astor arrived as the first woman member of Parliament. Never a feminist, Churchill resented her presence there. Years after, he told her: "I felt you had invaded my privacy. I felt as though you had caught me in my bath — without even the protection of a sponge."

But perhaps, like Parliament's memories of him, his thoughts will turn to the great days of the war, when he defined his policy as: "Victory. Victory at all costs. Victory in spite of all terrors, however long and hard the road may be. For without victory, there is no survival."

The memory of his wartime eloquence and leadership still touches the hearts of many middle-aged M. P.s as they glance at his brooding figure in the corner seat.

If Parliamentary memories turn to quieter days, there is his "glorious sunset," when Churchill, in his late 70s, became almost above the party game. Then the House was packed to hear his every word — or simply to watch him listening.

The round pink cherub with the immense shoulders and the jutting head would make his way slowly along the ministerial bench, slump down in the prime minister's seat, push his spectacles down to the end of his nose—and instantly look like Mr. Pickwick.

Often, while listening to an Opposition speech, he would indicate that he had heard enough of it by removing his hearing aid and, with great deliberation, stowing it away in his pocket.

An "honorary membership" has been suggested. But the Commons is very jealous of its elected status, and this may defeat that move.

Nor will Sir Winston go to the House of Lords. His heart is too much in the Lower House.

Perhaps the way out may be for the Commons to bestow on him honorary membership in that holy of holies, their smoking room—where all but M. P.s are excluded.

For it was there that Churchill often held court. It was there that, as the young M. P. of 25, he joined the courts of his seniors — never abashed or afraid to voice an emphatic opinion.

This is probably the honor that the Grand Old Man would appreciate more than any other.

Firehouse Honors Walter R. Castro

San Rafael's fourth firehouse, in Glenwood, will be named for Walter R. Castro, late county supervisor, longtime fire commissioner and at one time chief of the city's volunteer fire department.

Louis H. Baar, chairman of the fire commission, announced today the naming of the firehouse for Castro had been voted unanimously by the commission. It has the approval also of the city council.

This will be the second San Rafael firehouse named in honor of a former official. The No. 3 firehouse across Highway 101 from Terra Linda was named in honor of the late Joseph F. Sauer, former city councilman and fire commissioner.

Taylor Park Head To Leave

Frank Bellinghausen, assistant supervisor at Samuel P. Taylor State Park, has been named supervisor of MacKerricher Beach State Park, near Fort Bragg, Mendocino County.

Bellinghausen said the change is effective April 1, but he probably would not leave Marin County until April 6.

He has been at Taylor Park for 18 months, after serving at Tahoe State Park and at Squaw Valley during the Winter Olympics.

Bellinghausen has been with the state park service for seven and one-half years.

Novato Firemen Plan Egg Hunt

More than 1,000 children are expected at the Easter Egg hunt of the Novato Fire Department at noon Saturday on the Patterson Ranch at Seventh Street and Grant Avenue.

There will be three age classifications again this year, said Louis J. Saffores, chairman of the egg hunt committee. These are one and two-year olds; three, four and five-year olds, and six, seven and eight-year olds. Each age group will have its own area. Parents are not allowed to help the children.

The grass at the ranch will be cut and raked tomorrow, Saffores said. On Friday, regular and volunteer firemen will help in boiling and coloring the 2,400 eggs for the hunt.

Lagunitas Trustees To Get Tax Report

Progress report on campaigning for passage of the Lagunitas School District's proposed increase in the general operating fund tax rate from $2 per $100 assessed valuation to $2.65 will be presented to the district board at 8 p.m. today in the school auditorium. The election is April 14.

Reports on the financial status of the district, enrollment and the recent audio-visual workshop also will be discussed.

Let cement cure at least six days by keeping it damp or covering with watertight paper.

Treasury Aide Fowler Resigns

Fowler, who was appointed in January, 1961, by the late President John F. Kennedy, has been one of the leading government advisers on fiscal policy.

White House Press Secretary George E. Reedy, who announced that President Lyndon B. Johnson had accepted the resignation, said Fowler had made clear last year that he would leave his post as soon as Congress passed the administration tax bill.

Fowler, a Washington, D.C., attorney before joining the Treasury staff, told Johnson he plans to return to private life.

Children, No Dogs, Invited To Egg Hunt

More than 250 children are expected to participate in the Easter egg hunt sponsored by the Glenwood Homeowners Assn. Saturday at 11 a.m. at Victor Jones Park, Robinhood and Maplewood Drives, San Rafael.

START OF 'HORSEBACK' CAMPAIGN

Candidate Michael Wornum (center), who seeks a city council seat in Mill Valley, vowed Saturday to go after votes on horsezack, if that is what it takes to reach citizens in the more rugged areas of the community. Riding a neighbor's horse, he is shown handing a campaign sticker to Bert Akers as Wornum's daughter, Amanda, also on horseback, looks on. The candidate is one of eight men seeking three open seats in the April 14 city election.

Coin Collectors Grab All Available Dollars

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Coin collectors were grabbing up silver dollars so fast yesterday that the treasury expects to exhause its supply within a week.

Ignoring official efforts to discourage them, hundreds of persons jammed the granite steps tof the marble-columned treasury building waiting to exchange paper money for the quickly vanishing cartwheels. Some had been there all night.

Empty coffee cups littered the base of the statue of Albert Gallatin, former secretary of the treasury, when the doors swung open at 9 a.m. EST. One man sent in 20 boys he had hired to get him 1,000 coins each in cloth bags.

"The way it's going," one treasury official said, "we'll run out late this week or maybe not until Monday or Tuesday. Then we'll have to redeem silver certificates with bullion.

I suppose a few cranks will insist on it."

The run on silver dollars began March 11, when someone opened a treasury vault to find a pile of relatively scarce "Morgan" coins, which were minted in 1878-1904.

That day, the treasury had about 18 million silver dollars on hand. Yesterday, the stockpile had dwindled to about 6 million, most of which already had been ordered by federal reserve banks around the country to cope with the demand.

The treasury has no plans to mint any new silver dollars. The House appropriations committee last week rejected a treasury request for funds to do so on grounds that the value of the coins' silver content has risen so high that it might soon be profitable for collectors to melt them down.

While the crowds were storming the treasury gates yesterday morning, Treasury Secretary Douglas Dillon told the House banking committee that coin collectors, not speculators, were responsible for the run on silver dollars.

Others are Mrs. Doris M. Blackshear of Elsinore; Mrs. Pauline Tye of Dallas, Tex.; Frank L. Howard of Tucson, Ariz., and Roy C. Smith of Boise, Ida.

College Courses Due Juniors

Those students who will be seniors in September will be eligible to enroll in the college summer session, provided they can get signed recommendations from their high school counselors, according to Irvin P. Diamond, college dean of students.

The college summer session will start on June 22 and run for six weeks.
